FRAUD ACCUSED ACT SEPARATELY

DAUGHERTY LAWYER OPPOSES EVIDENCE GIVEN BY BUCKNER

Merton Continues To Testify In Property Trial

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Efforts to introduce into the Daugherty-Miller conspiracy trial today, certain correspondence of the Swiss-Metal Securities Co., and John Foster Dulles, New York attorney, brought out sharp conflict between attorneys for the two defendants.

Following yesterday's indications that Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian and Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, would act independently in defense of the joint charge against them—each fighting his own battle—today's developments were considered significant.

Max Steuer, attorney for Daugherty, objected strenuously to introduction by U. S. Attorney Emory Buckner, of the correspondence. It was pointed out that the way for the evidence had been opened by the cross-examination of Richard Merton by Col. William Rand, attorney for Miller.

"Col. Rand," exclaimed Steuer, "represents a different and separate client than I and he is conducting the defense of his client in the light of the best advice he had."

"What purpose he had in view, however, I don't divine," Judge Julian Mack, presiding, commented that he thought Steuer had acquiesced to the evidence by his silence.

"I seemed to acquiesce because to do otherwise would have been unseemly," answered Steuer, "but to allow the gates to be opened to hearsay not affecting Daugherty, would be wrong."

"I acquiesced only out of respect to Col. Rand."

"I am not here in a baby act," the letter finally was admitted against Steuer's exceptions.

Merton, the German financier, who is alleged to have paid $441,000 in commissions to the late John T. King, for securing return to his group of $7,000,000 of seized assets of the American Metal Co. was under examination by Butler.

He said the Swiss concern's activities were controlled largely by an executive committee. He told of the meetings of the committee and how finally the letter to Dulles in New York was sent, asking advice on the possibility of securing return of the seized property.

The letter was then offered and the objections by Steuer resulted.

DECISION UPHOLDS Lengel Discharge BY CANTON'S MAYOR

Sustains Charges Made In Connection With Murder

CANTON, O., Sept. 14.—The discharge of S. A. Lengel, as chief of police, of Canton, was upheld today by unanimous vote of the civil service commission.

Farm Caretaker's Story Indicates Hall- Mills Murder Took Place In Residence

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Sept. 14.—Four years ago today the Rev. Edward W. Hall, pastor of the church of St. John-The-Divine, in New Brunswick, was murdered with Mrs. Eleanor Mills, choir singer in the church.

Two days later their bodies were found on the Phillips farm, near that city.

With no satisfactory story of the murder ever given, the Phillips farm was again the center of interest in the case today.

Detectives intended to question Mike Sullis, former caretaker of the farm.

The story told by Sullis indicated that the pastor and choir singer may not have been murdered under the tree where their bodies were found but in the Phillips farm house. It was supposedly unattended at the time, but Sullis, who was found by investigators last night, said it was being used by some one.

Sullis said he had looked in the window and found evidence of secret occupancy.

On September 15, the day after the murders, Sullis said he passed a crab-apple tree and no bodies were found. He was certain he would have seen them and that they must have been placed there that night. The next day they were found carefully arranged and with a stack of love letters from Hall to Mrs. Mills between them.

When the farm house was examined, it was found that a mattress was missing from a bedroom. It was never found.

Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the murdered pastor is held on a charge of murder with her brother, Willie Stevens and her cousin, Henry De La Bruyere Carpenter, New York broker.

NO ONE DARES TO MISS "THE GIRL WHO DARED"

May Christie's New Story Begins In This Paper Tomorrow

"Amid the incessant hum of twenty typewriters in one of Atlanta's busiest offices, the nimble fingers of Miss Mary Forrester clicked with the utmost speed and accuracy upon the keys of her machine.

"Mary was twenty-five. Brisk. Capable; not pretty with a novelistic prettiness. Yet with a definite attraction of her own.

"Her hair was unshorn, dark brown, parted in the middle, its becoming neatness quite a pleasing contrast to the many pert and singled coiffures all about. Her clear skin—a little pallid through seven years of indoor office work—was quite devoid of all those marvellous 'aids' you read about in the advertising columns, while her deep-set, wise young eyes gazed forth from lashes that were just as nature had intended them to be."

"Want to read more? Sounds good, doesn't it? It ought to for above are the first three paragraphs of 'The Girl Who Dared,' that new and charming novel that May Christie has written for The Evening Gazette and The Morning Republican.

Miss Christie's first story for these papers, 'The Gilded Rose,' comes to an interesting end today. Her new story, the one quoted partially above will start in this paper tomorrow. Without interruption you are insured entertainment from some of the best newspaper fiction of recent years.

Miss Christie is a master of character-creation as she is a master of plot unfolding. Therefore her readers become so interested in the characters themselves that they also become involved mentally with the skeins of the story.

That's the way Miss Christie's stories get under your skin and those who have read 'The Gilded Rose,' will attest to that fact. In the meantime, shine up your spectacles for the beginning of an autumn feast of literature that will keep you interested until snow flies.

DIES IN HOSPITAL

SHARON, Pa., Sept. 14.—Mrs. Esther J. Davis, 74, mother of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, died in a hospital here early today. She was taken suddenly ill Monday at her home here and removed to the institution.

WILL LAUNCH CAMPAIGN TO SAVE OHIO'S DIRECT PRIMARY LAW

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 14.—An active campaign will be made in the next two months to save the direct primary elections in Ohio. It was announced here by J. F. Burke, Elyria, chairman of the newly formed primary defense league.

A protest against the legality of the state-wide petitions asking for a referendum to repeal the direct primary election amendment to the state constitution, was filed by the league yesterday with Secretary of State Thad H. Brown.

At an organization meeting here, plans were formulated for a state-wide fight against the proposed amendment.

Officers elected included Burke, chairman; State Senator George Bender, Cleveland; John J. Lentz, president of the American Insurance Union, Columbus; Mayor A. C. McDonald, Dayton and J. F. Witten, Columbus, vice presidents; Meta W. Peters, Cleveland, secretary and Mary Weaver, Cleveland, treasurer.

Members of the executive committee, Mrs. G. A. Russell, Dayton; Mrs. Florence D. Richards, state president of the W. C. T. U., and William Racey, Sandusky.

COMPLETE REPUBLICAN VICTORY IS OUTCOME OF MAINE ELECTION

Brewster Leads Democrat Opponent By 20,000 In Early Returns—State Picks Four G. O. P. Congressmen Also

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 14.—A complete Republican victory was indicated today by returns from Monday's state election.

Gov. Ralph O. Brewster, Republican, seeking re-election, had a lead of more than 29,000 votes over Ernest L. McLean, Democrat, this morning when approximately three-quarters of the state had been heard from.

The vote stood: Brewster, Republican, 98,593; McLean, Democrat, 77,789; Brewster's majority 20,804.

Indications were that Brewster would at least maintain the lead he now has.

The four Republican candidates for re-election to congress also won comparatively easy victories. These were Congressman Carroll Beedy, John E. Nelson, W. H. White and Ira G. Hersey. They defeated Richard Herson, Edward Chase, Chas. M. Starbird and Frank A. Peabody respectively.

A heavy vote was registered against a constitutional amendment to prohibit appropriations of public funds for the use of private schools and other institutions.

Maine did not elect a U. S. Senator. A special election will be held later in the year to choose a senator. A special election will be held later in the year to choose a senator.

The late Senator Bert M. Fernald.

FESS WILL PRESENT ANOTHER FARM BILL FOR NEXT CONGRESS

Nonpartisan Proposal Planned By Yellow Springs Solon

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Another farm relief bill will be offered at the next session of Congress by Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio, whose Coolidge supported relief plan was rejected last spring.

Senator Fess said today his new proposal would be "nonpartisan."

"The difficulty with farm legislation has been that Democrats and Republicans have been unable to agree on the tariff," he said. "The measure that we will offer at the next session will be designed with the idea of compromising these difficulties so that a farm bill can be enacted."

"The agriculturists of the West have the erroneous idea that the tariff works against them. Our plan will permit the farmers to organize just as labor has done and turn the farm produce market from a buyer's market to a seller's market. If the farmers can control their market through co-operation their troubles will be over."

AMERICAN LEGION HOSTS ON INCREASE

ELYRIA, O., Sept. 14.—An increase in membership of 5,000 during the past year is reported in the annual report made public today of the executive committee of the American Legion of Ohio.

This is the first membership increase shown in Ohio in three years and places the state in fourth place among the state's in membership standing.

CHAUFFEUR FOUND DEAD FROM BULLET

CLEVELAND, Sept. 14.—The body of Andrew Malone, 32, chauffeur, was found today hidden under an arch on the Kinsman Road. Death was due to a bullet through the heart. There were four other wounds.

Officials were endeavoring to learn where Malone spent the early hours of the evening and to locate his automobile.

During the war Malone was a sergeant at Camp Sherman.

FEDERAL TROOPS IN SEARCH OF BANDITS IGNORING THREATS

Authorities Believe Rescue Will Soon Be Effected

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 14.—Despite threats of the kidnappers of Jacob Rosenthal, wealthy American to kill him if they are pursued, Mexican federal troops were searching for them today, with his fate a mystery.

The troops were being guided by Jacob Ruff, son-in-law of Rosenthal and Jack Zahler, local businessman from whose automobile Rosenthal was seized Sunday as the party of Americans was returning to Mexico City from Cuernavaca, a resort city, Zahler, his wife and Ruff were robbed but not held.

After marching Rosenthal away, one of the bandits returned and handed Zahler a letter to the troop commander at Cuernavaca threatening to kill the prisoner if they are pursued.

Relatives fear the ordeal may prove too much for Rosenthal who is 62 and in ill health and unable to bargain with his captors because of his inability to speak Spanish.

Military authorities here announced today they expected the early capture of the bandits and rescue of Rosenthal. Military police from here sent out to assist in the search, reported they had traced the bandits from Huixtla in the direction of Mount Tuxtpec.

Authorities said they believed Rosenthal's captors are the same bandits who held up and killed several Mexican students on the same road several months ago.

Rosenthal, whose home is at Woodmore, Long Island, is a retired New York business man on his first visit to Mexico in twenty years.

CONFERENCE OPENS AT GALLIPOLIS, O.

GALLIPOLIS, O., Sept. 14.—The 115th annual session of the Ohio conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church North, will open here today with a communion led by Bishop Henderson, Cincinnati.

He will preside at all meetings. Three hundred ministers from the South Ohio District, are here to attend the meetings which will be held Sept. 14-19.

Speakers on the program are Senator Frank B. Willis, Bishop Henderson, Francis McConnell, Pittsburgh; Fred B. Fisher, Indiana; Dr. J. W. Hoffman, president Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware; Dr. George Mecklesburg, President Linsly College, Wheeling; E. M. Cherrington, general secretary of the World League against Alcoholism and Dr. D. D. Forsythe, Washington, D. C.

At the Sunday evening session the Bishop will read appointments of ministers to pastorates.

PARTIES GATHER TO FORM PLATFORMS

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 14.—Leaders of the Democratic and Republican parties gathered here today for conferences at which platforms will be constructed, committees heads chosen and plans discussed for the November elections.

Interest centered on the Democratic meeting which will be addressed this afternoon by Senator James A. Reed. Six years ago Reed was read out of the state convention for his stand against the League of Nations. This year he will make the keynote address and his views probably will influence building of a platform.

PROBE CONDITIONS IN CANTON "WORKS"

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 14.—Inaugurating an investigation of conditions in the Canton workhouse, Police Chief Kedgwin Powell declared today he would "go the limit" to see if prisoners have been mistreated and to correct any evils. Former prisoners in the workhouse will be called to testify as to methods of punishment used and other conditions. Charges of mistreatment were made before Judge Joseph Heferman, by three Youngstown prisoners.

ARREST CONSTABLE

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 14.—Arrested on a charge of accepting a $200 bribe, Frank R. Settles, constable working out of the court of Justice E. C. Loggie, was held under $5,000 bond after pleading not guilty.

Settles was alleged to have taken the $200 from Fred Miller, whom he arrested last week on charges of illegal possession and transportation of liquor.

WIDOW OF ONE GUN DUEL VICTIM SUES WIDOW OF THE OTHER FOR ALIENATION

While the two men victims of a gun duel which they fought to the death over the affections of the wife of one of them last Tuesday on E. Second St., lie in Cherry Grove cemetery, the aggrieved wife of one of the victims began a legal battle Monday in an effort to redress her wrongs.

Mrs. Sadie Wright, Jamestown, wife of Newton Wright, one of the victims, sued Mrs. Olive Simpson, wife of Archie Simpson, who was killed in defending the honor of his home, for $5000 damages for alienation of the affections of her husband.

The petition filed in common pleas court by Attorney F. W. Dunkle, alleges that the defendant associated with the plaintiff's late husband over a period of four years or more since July 30, 1922 and prior thereto. That she "wrongfully, maliciously and unlawfully associated with Wright, harbored him at her residence during the absence of her husband, wrote letters to him at his home in Jamestown, and joined him in trips to other cities under the relation of husband and wife, alienating his affections and causing him to be dissatisfied with the plaintiff. That she was caused great mental and bodily distress and was deprived of the support and society of her husband."

The petition makes no reference to the double tragedy.

Recalling of Mrs. McPherson before the grand jury was among the possibilities following the "confession" of Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman Selaff, whose charges are said to be voluntary statements.

Among the documents seized were directions for getting to Carmel-By-The-Sea from Venice. It was on the beach at Venice that Mrs. McPherson disappeared to reappear later at Douglas, Ariz., to tell her now famous story of being "kidnaped."

A note among the statements seized said:

"This will introduce Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman. Any information helping us to get a message to Mr. Ormiston in the interests of justice to Mrs. McPherson will be deeply appreciated. Thank you. Mrs. M. Kennedy, 'Mother'."

LETTERS STRENGTHEN CHARGE THAT EVANGELIST FRAMED HOAX

May Recall Mrs. McPherson Before Grand Jury— Credentials Given Mrs. Wiseman Held By Authorities

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Sept. 14.—A number of telegrams and letters seized by authorities in a safety deposit box are purported to strengthen the charges that Almee Semple McPherson, evangelist, planned the "Miss X" hoax to protect herself from public scandal, following her "kidnapping" three months ago.

Recalling of Mrs. McPherson before the grand jury was among the possibilities following the "confession" of Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman Selaff, whose charges are said to be voluntary statements.

Among the documents seized were directions for getting to Carmel-By-The-Sea from Venice. It was on the beach at Venice that Mrs. McPherson disappeared to reappear later at Douglas, Ariz., to tell her now famous story of being "kidnaped."

A note among the statements seized said:

"This will introduce Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman. Any information helping us to get a message to Mr. Ormiston in the interests of justice to Mrs. McPherson will be deeply appreciated. Thank you. Mrs. M. Kennedy, 'Mother'."

FRATS ROBBED

NEWARK, O., Sept. 14.—When students at Denison University in Granville came to school yesterday and visited their fraternity houses, they were met with sad tales of hard luck for thieves during the night had ransacked four chapter houses and escaped with $350 in cash, a watch and a fraternity pin. The fraternity houses entered included Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Lambda Chi Alpha and Kappa Sigma.

THREE ARRESTED

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 14.—Three men and two women were arrested by police as a result of the stabbing yesterday of William Dalton, 24, movie organizer and William E. Dutcher, salesman. The arrests were made after police traced the automobile license number, said by Dalton to have been carried by the attackers. The stabbing occurred during an argument following a collision.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Sept. 14.—The confession of Ruby Ray, flapper bandit that she killed W. H. Cheek, Atlanta grocer, having failed to save Mell Gore, youthful murderer, he had only one hope of escaping electrocution before night. Unless the state supreme court rules favorably upon a mandamus petition to stay the execution, Gore will be electrocuted "some time before 4 p. m."

OBREGON KIDNAPED BY YAQUI INDIANS

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 14.—Friends of former President Obregon of Mexico said today that he had been kidnapped by Yaqui Indians after a three hour battle near Lencho, Sonora, where 1,000 Indians were said to have attacked the former president's train.

Obregon is said to have escaped or to have been released and his friends here believe he has reached his home between Cajam and Guaymas.

NEW COURT INDICTS TWELVE FIRST TIME

STREUBENVILLE, O., Sept. 14.—The first term of the new U. S. district court of the Southern District of Ohio resulted in twelve indictments, six of which were secret.

Judge Benson Hough held an arraignment this morning at which four prisoners pleaded guilty. They will be sentenced later. Three of those entered pleas of nolle. The remaining five have not been arrested.

FOUR STATES HOLDING PRIMARY ELECTIONS TUESDAY

NEW YORK
ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 14.—New York State electors went to the primary polls today to elect delegates to the state conventions, nominees for the House of Representatives, a new legislature, and county officers.

The major state and judicial offices having been removed from the primary elections, interest centered principally in the contests for the congressional nominations, of which there are seven—five in the Republican ranks, and two in the Democratic circle.

So far as can be learned here, prohibition plays but little part in any of the contests; there being just one where efforts have been made to inject the issue.

Organization leaders of both parties were confident that where contests are on, the organization candidate will be named.

Republicans and Democrats will hold their state convention this year on the same date, September 29; the Republicans meeting in New York and the Democrats going to Syracuse.

MICHIGAN
LANSING, Mich., Sept. 14.—Michigan electors were to decide today whether to honor the claims of Governor Alex J. Groesbeck to a fourth term in office against the objections of dozens of politicians who were formerly his friends.

Opposed to him in the primary contest is Fred W. Green, mayor of Ionia, Mich., who is backed by many former members of the Groesbeck organization as well as avowed "insurgents." The governor in the campaign which closed last night, broke his precedent by making a state-wide stamping tour and declared he was confident of victory. Green's friends are equally certain that their combined influence and steady campaigning will overcome the governor's admittedly large personal following.

While Governor Groesbeck's frequent brushes with the Washington administration during the last few years have been mentioned slightly by his opponents, the outcome of the state primaries today will be little indication of attitude of the voters toward national affairs because of failure to stress the situation during the campaign.

VERMONT
BURLINGTON, Vt., Sept. 14.—With Porter H. Dale unopposed for his seat in the United States Senate, interest in today's state primaries centered upon a three-cornered contest for the Republican nomination for Governor.

President Coolidge's native Vermont was to have been the scene of a lively senatorial battle, but the sudden withdrawal some weeks ago of former Governor W. W. Stickney, law partner of Atty. Gen. John G. Fargent, left Dale with an open field. Poor health was announced as the cause for Stickney's resignation from the contest.

Today's gubernatorial contest has aroused more than ordinary interest throughout the state because there are three candidates instead of the usual two in the race. The aspirants are Lieut. Gov. Walter K. Farnsworth, Judge John E. Weeks, and Max Powell, and the main issue concerns the question of bonding as a means of raising funds for highway improvements.

Herbert Cummings, of Richmond, Democratic candidate for governor, is unopposed in the primaries.

COLORADO
DENVER, Colo., Sept. 14.—Prohibition and the Ku Klux Klan were among the major issues in the campaign preceding Colorado's primary election today.

The race for the United States senator has attracted the most attention. In the Republican party Senator Rice Means, incumbent, is seeking renomination opposed by Charles W. Waterman, George A. Luxford and Mortimer W. Spaulding, all of Denver.

The designees of the Democratic party for the senate are Paul P. Prosser, William E. Sweet and Frank J. Hayes, also all of Denver.

Democrats seeking the gubernatorial nomination are William H. Adams, of Alamosa, and Samuel W. Johnson, of Arvada. Republicans seeking nomination for the same office are Oliver H. Shoup, Colorado Springs; John F. Vivian, Golden, and Carl S. Miliken, Denver.

Adams is one of the oldest politicians in the state and has been considered for years the boss of the state senate. Johnson, not so long in politics, is one of the most popular district judges in the state.

IS JAZZ DYING OUT? NO SAY EXPERTS; THEY DECLARE, HOWEVER, THAT JAZZ IS CHANGING

Is jazz dying out? It isn't, judging from the number of jazz phonograph records sold by Xenia the aforesaid records outsell any other type five to one.

The majority of Xenia record customers belong to what is known as "the jazz age," which accounts for the peppy taste in music. Dealers report, however, of selling a large number of the more sentimental records, and religious hymns and marches still have their followers.

"Jazz isn't dying—it is simply changing," said the leader of a popular dance orchestra. Xenia admirers of jazz point out that love tales and subjects that were and have a song hit. Naturally, when a song is composed in this way, it has a tried and tested melody.

"But 'jazz,' if that you mean 'hot' dance music, is not dying. Instead it is growing more and more popular. The radio has had something to do with this. The Charleston, now seemingly on its last legs, was also a factor."

This orchestra leader, however, spoke of jazz as applied to music. The jazz spirit has been manifest in many other phases of life. The proprietor of a great dance hall was asked about jazz dancing.

"The present tendency," he said "is toward milder dancing. The Charleston is no longer popular. Hardly any two couples dance alike these days, and in general, dancing is more graceful and less extreme than it has been for the past few years. However, there will be some new fad in dance steps come along one of these days."

POSTPONED GAMES ARE NOW SCHEDULED

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—National League headquarters today announced the following schedule of postponed games:

Sept. 14.—At Boston.—The game scheduled with St. Louis, moved up and played as a part of a double-header, Sept. 11; Sept. 15 at Boston, two games with Chicago; Sept. 16 at Philadelphia, two games with St. Louis; Sept. 18 at Philadelphia two games with St. Louis; Sept. 15 at Boston two games with Chicago; Sept. 20 at Boston, two games with Cincinnati; Sept. 25 at Boston, two games with Pittsburgh; Sept. 20 at New York, two games with Chicago.

CHAMBERLAIN NOW IN TORY DISTRICT

LONDON, Sept. 14.—According to labor circles, one of the indirect results of the coal strike has been to drive Neville Chamberlain, the Minister of Health, from the working-class district of Ladywell, Birmingham—which he has heretofore represented—to the safe Tory district of Edgbaston, Birmingham. He has been offered, and has accepted, the candidacy for Edgbaston.

Labor leaders attribute this change, unusual in a member of the Chamberlain family which, from the late Joseph Chamberlain down, has prided itself upon its ability to hold a working class district, to the attacks made upon the Ministry of Health for alleged harsh rulings as to the amounts which the Government will grant toward poor relief in the strike areas.

RANKED SECOND

TIFFIN, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Seneca County ranked second in Ohio in total attendance of farmers institutes for the year 1926. Wayne County was first with eighteen institutes and an attendance of 17,640.

ARRANGE PREMIUMS FOR AUGLAIZE FAIR

WAPAKONETA, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Premiums totaling $835 have been set aside by the management of the Auglaize County Fair to be awarded to winners in the Horse show. The fair will be held here September 21 to 25.

A revival of interest in horses will be apparent to fair-goers who attend the horshow is the belief of local breeders. A keen demand for high-class pure-bred horses is anticipated. Before the war Europe was the great horse producing continent, now America has more than twenty five per cent of all the horses in the world. Preparations are being made to care for the horses. The entries list closes September 21.

BLACK SHIRTS, RED VESTS AND KNITTED BOW TIES AMONG MALE STYLE FOIBLES

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 14.—The male fashion-plates of the movies are out-doing the girl-stars in trick style fads for all.

And that, according to the connoisseurs, is the "ne plus ultra" of fashion, because Hollywood women are noted everywhere for their audacity in dress.

The neck-tie belt, knitted bow-tie, two-piece underwear, black shirt, and red satin vest are a few of the latest style foibles of the film heroes.

Harry Langdon for example, has brought out a distinctly Langdonian paradox, a handknitted black bow-tie. The comedian off screen, is noted as one of the few sane dressers in the film city, where half-grease was first popularized.

But hundreds are copying the fad, and the little old lady on a Hollywood side-street, who knits Harry's neck-ties is now being stormed with Langdon admirers in search of hand-knitted black bow-ties.

Walter Pidgeon, leading man for Norma Talmadge, is wearing his trousers without belts or suspenders. Instead, he uses silk neckties, new or old, wound around his waspish waist, run through the pant-loops.

Black shirts, with an Italian flavor, are widely worn by the actors and their imitators. Joseph von Sternberg is said to have started this fad. His shirts, with collar attached, are of shiny black satin. Many extras, with an eye to economy, have adopted the fashion—it saves laundry bills.

Striped silk and linen underwear in two pieces, the trunks tied in the back with tasseled cords, have been adopted by many of the screen idols, including Jack Gilbert, Conrad Nagel, Norman Kerry and others.

Another trick creation is the "rabbit-eared shirt," by Richard Barthelmess. It is an ordinary soft white affair, with the longest pointed collars ever seen in these much photographed parts. Those who have glimpsed the collars at close range declare the points are more than six inches long.

Jack Mulhall is popularizing silk golf socks—a comfortable idea for Sunny California, at least. Ken Maynard, the new cowboy star, gave boulevard admirers a thrill the other day by appearing in a red satin vest, covered with beaded designs.

Other foibles rumored by advance agents, but not yet caught napping, are bathing caps covered with colored cartoons, snakeskin riding boots, and three-colored shoe-strings.

Catarrh Is So Unnecessary

When You Can End It This Easy Way

Many who have catarrh are unwilling to acknowledge it, even to themselves. Some think it is "just a cold" that will soon disappear. Others endure the discomfort needlessly, because they do not know how easily it can be ended.

Get At The Cause

Every case of catarrh can be traced to a single cause—inflammation of the mucous membrane. This is the delicate lining of the air passages of nose, throat and head.

When this membrane is inflamed there is an excessive mucous discharge, or catarrh. Local salves and ointments give some relief. But these are only temporary, because they do not reach the cause.

To end catarrh, these delicate membranes must be toned and strengthened and the inflammation ended.

This is what Hall's Catarrh Medicine does. It acts in a scientific way, purifies the blood and reduces the inflamed membranes. Physicians everywhere know of it, and hundreds use Hall's regularly in the treatment of nasal catarrh, sinusitis, ozena, catarrhal deafness and offensive breath.

Get Hall's Catarrh Medicine at your nearest druggist. He will tell you it is the most successful catarrh treatment he has known in 40 years. If he is out of it, send 85c to F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

ALLEGED THIEVES RETURNED TO TROY TO FACE CHARGES

Fred McGee, 27, Troy, former Xenian, and Ashby Simpson, 40, Dayton, both colored, who were arrested in Dayton last week in connection with the alleged theft of meat and lard from the Braum Brothers Packing Co., Troy, which they disposed of to restaurants in Dayton, were returned to Troy and are in the Miami County Jail.

When arrested, the men, both of whom were employed by the packing company, had about $100 worth of hams, bacon, pork loins and lard in a truck they were driving.

Police say that they had been selling meat in Dayton for several weeks, and it is supposed that all was stolen from the Troy plant. Dayton police received reports some time ago that two men were selling meat to restaurants in that city at very low prices. Two detectives were placed on their trail, and they learned that the men first took orders for the meat and then delivered it.

When arrested, McGee, whose family formerly lived near Wilberforce, told Dayton police that he was employed by Wilberforce University and was to deliver the meat there.

TO NEGOTIATE DRY PACT WITH CANADA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—A new anti-smuggling agreement with Canada, similar to the one recently arranged with England, will be negotiated late this month by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews.

The pact will be a "business agreement" for the exchange of information to prevent liquor smuggling and not a treaty, Andrews said.

The arrangement will be a "two way" affair to stop the flow of rum into the United States and to end smuggling of bootleg liquor into the dry provinces of Canada from America.

Secretary of State Kellogg is now arranging the date for the conference, it is understood.

While the United States now has an anti-smuggling treaty with Canada, means of putting it into effect have not been perfected.

At the meeting officials of both nations will strive to devise means to make the obligation effective.

KING SUFFERING FROM SUNBURN

LONDON, Sept. 14.—King George like thousands of his subjects, has come down with a sunburn—not an ordinary coat of tan, according to those who have seen him on the Scottish moors, but a regular red one. He got his on the Duke of Devonshire's moors at Bolton Abbey, where he has been riding his favorite pony, Polly, and engaging in grouse-shooting. The king is believed to have made a start on his sunburn aboard the royal yacht Britannia during the Coward Regatta, just before he went to Scotland.

NEW JASPER
Court is in session this morning. Squire Shirk presiding.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert St. John and daughter, Virgie Carline, Wichita, Kan., are here spending a few weeks with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. St. John.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilkinson and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Conrey were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jones, Eleazer.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fudge and daughter, Miss Lella, motored to St. Paris Sunday and spent the day with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Esker Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Eber Allen and family, were Sunday guests of Mrs. J. W. Allen, Octa.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Shirk and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Anderson attended a birthday dinner at Mr. and Mrs. Frank Doster's home, Jamestown, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wilkinson spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Williams, Xenia.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Smith and family, Xenia, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. am Fudge. In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Fudge motored to Fairfield as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Spahr.

KANSAS STILL IN GRID OF FLOODS

IOLA, Kan., Sept. 14.—With the death toll uncertain and property damage at more than $6,000,000 the Neosho River, which flooded four Kansas counties Sunday night, was at a level of 22.6 feet above flood level today.

Low-hanging clouds and weather forecasts indicated more rain was probable.

The families of Robert Lee, Robert Mitchell and Mrs. Mary Stubbs have not been located. They may have perished. Even the chimneys of their houses are not visible. Three other persons are known to have perished.

A THOROUGH, EFFECTIVE PLEASANT PHYSIC

Foley Cathartic Tablets, a wholesome, satisfying physic, thoroughly cleanse the bowels, sweeten the stomach, tone up the liver. For indigestion, biliousness, bad breath, headache and gas pains, due to a constipated condition, no remedy is more highly recommended. Wm. O. E. Blöke, Hancock, Mich., says: "I have given Foley Cathartic Tablets a thorough trial and I can honestly recommend them as a sure and pleasant laxative. They work without griping." Comforting, too, to stout persons. —Adv.

OUR PROSPERITY

Another measure of the prosperity of the United States may be found in the fact that capital, deposits and resources of the banks of the United States are greater now than at any time in the history of the republic. The figures were given recently by R. N. Sims, secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks for the annual convention at Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. Sims stated that of a total of more than 28,000 banks in the United States, 20,289 were state institutions and 8,000 national banks. These banks have a total capital, surplus and undivided profits of more than seven billions, total deposits of more than 54 billions, and resources of more than 63 billions. Deposits increased over three billions, and total resources increased $3,487,507,427 over the highest totals of the year previous. All of the banking business of the United States in both state and national banks has increased more than 40 percent since 1919, when his first report was made, according to Mr. Sims.

This imposing percentage of increase will give us some idea of the growth and development of the United States during the past six or eight years. The country is now pretty well over the reconstruction period following the war and is once more on the high road of progress and prosperity.

There are still some pessimistic voices but they are growing fewer each year. For the present year, despite the unsettled condition of Europe, increased business is expected for the autumn months and it is now being predicted that the price of wheat may go to two dollars a bushel.

There is no question about the material prosperity of the United States. Let us see that in the rush of business and progress we do not forget the fundamental principles of the government which made such progress and prosperity possible.

BELATED HONORS

While attending the semi-centennial meeting of the American Chemical Society in Philadelphia chemists from several countries will pay tribute to Joseph Priestley, theologian and man of science, by making a pilgrimage to his grave and the home in which he spent the last years of his life.

This pilgrimage comes two years after the sesqui-centennial of Priestley's discovery of oxygen. That he had some mistaken views as to the significance of his great discovery does not impair nor lessen the distinction which this persecuted theologian must have for all time.

Priestley called oxygen "dephlogisticated air," that is, air from which the phlogiston (the constituent which was supposed to leave the other elements behind in any process of combustion) had been removed.

The discovery of oxygen is another of the many important scientific advances made by men who did not profess to be scientists. Priestley studied chemistry for recreation and aspired to be judged as a pioneer and leader in religious reform rather than for renown as a chemist. It is a singular whim of fate that he should owe his immortality to his scientific study and research rather than to his theology.

It is fitting that the greatest chemist the world ever should visit the home and grave of this persecuted theologian, this friend of freedom who was harassed for his liberal views, this scientist who was "no professed chemist," and this nation feels flattered that Priestley, as an immigrant, sought a haven here and was glad of the opportunity to be buried in the beautiful Susquehanna valley of Pennsylvania.

WHAT IS A HICK CITY?

Here is a newspaper which nominates New York as a "Hick" city because it turned out more people to welcome home Gertrude Ederle, who swam the English channel, than it did to welcome General Pershing when he came home from helping to win the war.

It also provided a larger crowd to look on the dead face of Valentino than it would to see a president. New Yorkers are not different, en masse, from the inhabitants of other cities. In fact most of them have migrated there from the country and other cities of the country. Human nature there is of a kind with human nature everywhere. New Yorkers will stop their work to see a dog fight or a man baking cakes in a window. A man demonstrating a new kind of necktie in a show window will draw a crowd every day.

Because New York is a Big city is no reason it is any less "hick" than smaller towns. In fact because it is the biggest city in the country it is the biggest "hick" city of all.

The sesqui-centennial at Philadelphia has been open three or four months, and visitors with good imaginations may now obtain an idea how it will look when complete.

FRESCOES FOUND IN ANCIENT CHURCH

UPINE, Italy, Sept. 14.—Important discoveries of ancient frescoes and sacred relics are reported from the town of Cividade, where, during the course of some restorations to the famous church of Saints Peter and Biagio, a magnificent fresco representing St. Biagio surrounded by a crowd of the faithful was found under a layer of stucco.

Behind the altar of the chapel of St. Biagio, which dates from the fifth century, another ancient altar was found and some relics of the martyrs, Saints Lucius and Ildi-un, still bearing the untouched seals of the bishop who consecrated them.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES

Mrs. R.: "I am puzzled about squashes. How are they cooked and what do they look like? Please tell me through your column whether the two vegetables I have tried to sketch at the bottom of my letter are squashes."

Answer: Yes, the pictures you drew are of summer squashes—the long one being called "crook-necked" squash. They are cooked as follows: Wash, cut into small pieces, and either cook in boiling water for thirty minutes or in a steamer for one hour. Mash fine, season with salt and pepper to suit individual liking, and add plenty of butter before serving, hot. Some people like summer squash sliced and fried like eggplant. Other housewives like the turban or "cymlin" variety of summer squash found in the Southern States cooked whole when very young (that is, not much larger than a silver dollar). But the crook-necked and other summer squashes are richer in flavor when grown to a large size. For more mature squash it is best to remove skin and seeds before cooking. Winter squash (which is rather greenish in color, often as large as a football, but more oval than round) is cooked in the same way; it has very tough skin, which is hard to cut through, however, and for this reason many cooks place it whole in the oven and bake till tender inside, when it is easily cut, pared, mashed while hot, seasoned and served.

Jim's Girl: "Please publish a recipe for a large inexpensive sponge cake."

Answer: I published such a recipe last Wednesday (September eighth). If you failed to see it, buy a back copy of the paper or go to the newspaper files in the Circulation Department where you can copy it out. (Do not write to me for reprints of my daily articles as I do not keep them for sending out). Since publishing that recipe, I have experimented with it and discovered that it is even better when mixed as follows: Beat four unseparated eggs, add two cups of granulated sugar, stir in two cups of pastry flour sifted with two teaspoons of baking powder and last add three-quarters of a cup of very hot water. Bake in an eight by twelve-inch pan (it raises higher than the larger pan I recommended last week) for fifty minutes in a moderate oven (that is, between 350 and 400 degrees Fahrenheit). There, I've given you the recipe, after all! This cake needs no flavoring. Tomorrow—One Egg Chocolate Cake.

RECEIVES DOUBLE
FRACTURE WHEN HIT BY MACHINE SUNDAY

Leon Winslow, 10, colored, Jamestown, suffered a double fracture of the right leg below the knee when he was knocked down and run over by an automobile belonging to Thurman Early, S. Detroit St., and driven by his son, Ahler Early, on N. Detroit St., near the plant of The Greene County Lumber Co., Sunday evening.

The boy darted in front of a Springfield and Xenia traction car. The accident was said to be unavoidable and Early was exonerated from blame by Deputy Sheriff John Baughn who investigated.

Winslow and four white boys near his own age all from Jamestown were pushing their stalled automobile away from the traction tracks when the Winslow child became frightened and ran across the street in the path of the automobile.

The boy was taken to the Espey Hospital. He lives with his mother in Jamestown. Boys who were with him at the time were: Orville Soddors, Neal Doty, Clyde Toland and John Thomas.

Today's Talk

ONLY THOSE

I know a very famous writer who last year produced a first seller. I happen to know that she has worked and worked for years and years. Her short stories attracted attention, but her one ambition was to write a real worthwhile novel.

Last year she did it—and today she is known from one end of the country to the other. Recently she produced another novel, and it is being received with great interest and I am sure with profit to those who read, for she writes stories that have to do with that phase of life that is vital.

But I happen to know, as well, that this girl worked in the most discouraging fashion, in a little country store and later as a newspaper reporter.

come fine stories of life.

I like that line that I learned when a boy: "Only those are crowned and sainted, Who with grief have been acquainted. Making nations nobler—freer."

I see Hugo in a mean garret writing his immortal prose. I see the struggle of George Grey Barnard in all the magnificent cut pieces of marble that will remain as the man himself, long after he has dropped his chisel. And his great bronzes will be immortal! Big things are not born through ease.

We have to suffer and go into the depths of despair and discouragement in order to rise to heights. We have to get knocked down ever once in a while so that we may rise with greater fight in our souls.

Only those who have known disaster and failure are really worthy to wear the mantle of achievement and success.

ORIGINAL CONTRACT

Contract for building the first Court House was let April 5, 1806 to William Kendall, who was allowed $6 for clearing the timber from the public square. The house was built of brick, forty feet square and twenty-eight feet high, with a cupola in the center of the roof, ten feet in diameter and fifteen feet high. It was finished August 14, 1809, and accepted.

According to the original contract $1,000 was to be paid as soon as the house was put under cover, the balance to be paid in six months after the work was completed.

The contract, signed by John Paul, clerk, and Commissioners James Snowden and John McClain, provided that as soon as work was begun, money shall be paid as soon as it could be collected from those who had purchased lots.

On August 12, commissioners and the contractors agreed to an alteration in the building and drew up the following contract:

Whereas, the board of commissioners and William Kendall have agreed to an alteration in part of the Court House in the following manner, said Kendall is to erect a hip roof in said Court House and a cupola, ten feet in diameter and fifteen feet high, the roof of which is to be Spanish brown and the body white, the whole of which is to be done in a complete and workmanlike manner for which he is to receive $300, to be added to the first payment of said Court House.

Said Kendall is also to raise the upper story eighteen inches higher than that his former contract was for, which he is to lay in his bill for said brick work which he shall receive at the last payment for said house—also a conductor which is to be painted for which he is to receive his pay agreeably for said work.

Sociologists or whoever they are that are always trying to find out why there is a scarcity of domestic help in Kansas, may find in the following paragraph a clue to the answer:

Albert Moyer, clubman, and bon vivant, recently telephoned the book department of one of the big stores in this town to ask the price of Who's Who in America, a book which even the Eskimos know is made up of thumbnail autobiographies of thousands of contributors.

"Do you know who wrote it?" asked the saleswoman who answered the phone.

"A mass meeting," replied Moyer.

At the Newspaper Club the other day I met William N. Vaile, the Colorado congressman and sole literary light in the House of Representatives, whose latest book, "The Mystery of the Golconda" is enjoying a wide sale at this writing.

Mr. Vaile sold his first story to Sunset Magazine many years ago. This particular piece of fiction was rejected by 165 editors before it found a sympathetic reader on Sunset.

The only other solon now solong at Washington who has broken into the fiction end of the writing game in the last decade is Congressman Winter of Wyoming, whose two books, "Grandon of Sierra" and "Ben Warman" will be remembered by readers of "Westerns."

Driving a taxicab in Greater New York is an adventurous occupation. I talked with a driver recently who had, within a week:

Found a pearl necklace worth $25,000 in his cab, and received $5 reward when he restored it to its owner.

Found a passenger dead from natural causes when the address given by the fare was reached. Been held up by a negro bandit and robbed of $23, which represented his night's work.

Driven a man to New Rochelle, sixteen miles from Times Square, only to be paid off with counterfeit money.

Otherwise his was a peaceful week.

Homer Croy, author of "West of the Water Tower" and other novels, has been elected president of the Forest Hills, L. I. Waffle Eaters' Association. This high office was handed to him the other night after he had eaten eleven waffles hot from the iron and refused the twelfth when he heard the clock strike eleven, saying, "No thanks, I never eat late at night."

The Theatre

A full and successful life sometimes brings forth an autobiography and never is written word more entertaining. If a writer after experiencing success writes his experiences, why shouldn't a great film star after achieving success, film her life story?

What could be more fascinating than an autobiography of Mary Pickford's life, played by her and written by her and shown with the wonderful realism of our present day screen, asks Screenland.

Little Gladys Smith in a small Canadian city could still be convincingly played by Mary Pickford and the many tremendously dramatic incidents known only to Mary, which she must have met along the way would make an interesting picture and the spectator would be led to love her as never before as he watched the struggles of little Gladys Smith to become the most famous woman on earth—"America's Sweetheart."—Our Mary.

Jack Delaney, who beat Berenbach in what was a great ring battle, is going into the more genteel and less barbaric business of entertaining the masses via the stage. Al Lewis has signed the champion in vaudeville and soon we shall see a bashful, inarticulate gladiator trying to lick the hard-boiled gentlemen who attend the matinees.

Do you remember Lillian "Dimples" Walker? Back in the old Vitaphone days Lillian was second to none as a drawing card. She is returning to the screen soon. The stage has been claiming her. She is said to be as pretty and vivacious as ever.

Johnny Dooley, brother of Ray Dooley is collaborating with Norman Clark, dramatic editor of "The Baltimore News" on a series of sketches for a revue in which Dooley plans to appear this season.

They are also working on the book that a musical comedy which the comedian may substitute as a vehicle instead of the revue.

A WOMAN ON A DIET

A woman vows that she will diet. Sees chocolate cake and longs to try it.

Renounces angel food and pie. But casts on them a hungry eye. Henceforth where'er she takes a seat

They serve her favorite things to eat. Where'er her social duties lead

On calories they try to feed her. The doctor says, stop this and that

If you'd get rid of surplus fat. An easy thing to say, 'tis true. But not an easy thing to do.

Hunger provides a sauce that's biting. And makes the plainest food inviting.

Foes, in the guise of friends, ascert

A little bit of this won't hurt. They tempt her sometimes as a jest

With dainties which she likes the best. Most any woman told to diet

Smiles and decides that she will try it. But tempted oft her courage fails.

Up climbs the needle on the scales. Few can the lure of food refuse.

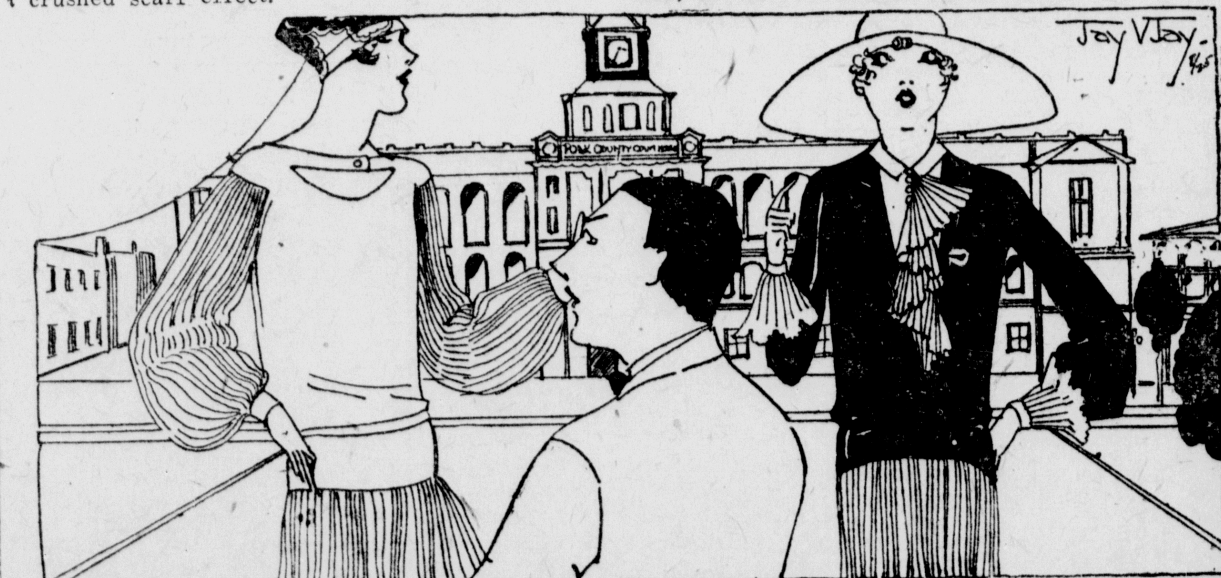

Only the stoutest hearts can lose.

Modish Mitzi "IT'S NEVER TOO LATE TO SPEND," SAYS MITZI Jay V. Jay

Dad's taking no chances. He's to meet Mitzi later in the day. In order to be sure that the meeting will be staged according to schedule, Dad writes out the time, the place and how to get to it. Mitzi wears a taffeta frock with a gilet, the collar a crushed scarf effect.

So Mitzi departs to do some shopping. She is much interested in this evening dress trimmed with a huge velvet bow on the side back. The neck is V shaped as you see. It's a stunning gown with metal lace for the bodice. Metal lace, too, forms the flounce of the skirt.

You know how quickly time is spent shopping. Almost as quickly as money. Suddenly Mitzi be-thinks herself of Dad's instructions. It's a most inopportune time to remember this for she is trying on a gown with long bodice and ruffled skirt. Velvet bows trim the skirt.

First you see Dad and Polly waiting in vain for Mitzi at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument. The sun will be setting—soon. The subject of where Mitzi is has been deeply discussed. Mitzi is exactly where they think she is—still shopping. "It's Never Too Late to Spend" is her motto. Oh, yes, she intends meeting Dad . . . later. Tomorrow—How The New Pleats Are Used.

Indiana Injunction May Halt Dempsey-Tunney Bout

CHICAGO CLUB GETS ACTION TO PREVENT PHILADELPHIA BOUT

Lawyer Says Move However Not Good In Pennsylvania

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 14.—The injunction issued in Indianapolis against holding of the Dempsey-Tunney battle here September 23 will "have no effect whatever" in Pennsylvania, in the opinion of Edwin M. Abbott, well known lawyer and counsel for the Sesqui-Centennial exposition. "If proceedings are instituted here, I doubt if the Indiana injunction would influence the Pennsylvania court's decision, which of course, would rest on the legal merits of the case," he said today.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—The decision of an Indianapolis judge will stop the Dempsey-Tunney fight in Philadelphia. M. Whiteside, attorney for B. C. Clements who drew up the bill presented in the Indiana court, said today. "Under the conditions, the Pennsylvania court must issue an injunction stopping the fight," Whiteside declared. "That court must give full faith and credit to the act of a sister state." Informed that Tex Rickard had declared through representatives that the Indiana decision could have no effect in Pennsylvania, he added: "The only plea that could be entered would be that Indiana does not have jurisdiction. That plea however, was entered and overruled in Indiana."

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 14.—Surprise but no alarm was expressed by boxing officials here at the action of the Indiana courts in granting an injunction to the Chicago Coliseum Club to prevent the Dempsey-Tunney bout here September 23. "Surely our plans will go right along to stage the bout just as if there had been no interference," declared Tex Rickard, promoter. "Never have I opposed the courts and I don't intend to begin now. But I figure I have a legal right to stage the bout."

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 14.—James A. Farrabaugh, attorney was to leave here today for Philadelphia to begin a second round of legal action to prevent Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion from fighting Gene Tunney, a week from Thursday. Farrabaugh last night won an injunction here restraining Dempsey from meeting Tunney for the championship until he first meets Harry Wills. The injunction was issued by Superior Judge Clinton Givan, who expressed doubt whether it would be effective in Pennsylvania. Farrabaugh immediately decided to institute similar proceedings in Philadelphia, using the same evidence introduced here. The attorney represents the Coliseum Club, of Chicago, which holds a contract with Dempsey for a fight with Wills.

Hornsby Spoke Too Soon Redlegs Now Declare

Last Friday in Boston, Rogers Hornsby, able manager, St. Louis Cardinals, confident, said: "We're in."

Twice he brought his Cardinals to New York to see the Yankees in action. He wanted to acquaint them with Yankee style of play in anticipation of the World Series.

To declare his team victorious with so much of the season left to play, was a managerial precedent and the victory of the Reds over Brooklyn Monday must have convinced Hornsby, able manager, that he counted his Plymouth Rocks before they were incubated.

THIRTY FIVE SEEK GRID POSITIONS ON ELEVEN AT ANTIOCH

Thirty-five football candidates are working out under Dr. C. E. Kennedy, new athletic coach at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, where the gridiron game is being resumed this year after an absence of several years.

Because the school has not had football for several years, abandoned because of the difficulties in maintaining a team due to the co-operative educational system, much of the new material is green and will require considerable experience.

Dr. Kennedy is assisted by J. L. Shook, former all-Ohio halfback from Kenton, "Slim" Dawson, former Antioch star and now assistant coach and Church Woolridge, Dave Snyder and Ralph Stump, stars of former teams. The schedule opens October 2 when Antioch plays Urbana Junior College at Urbana. The coach is seeking an engagement for October 9, which will be the only two games the A division team will play. The B division eleven will play Urbana at Yellow Springs November 6 and Ashland at Ashland November 13. Candidates out are: backs—Lakin, Leithe, Kummer, Moore, Duff, Geiser, Burr, Kelso, Shackford and Manninen; linemen—Shikking, Farley, Gould, Teele, Markwell, Berglund, Parke, Howlett, Carleton, Miller, Hurlburt, Poole, Darlington, Mead, West, Pele, Cooke, Henley, Shackford, Kinsley, Gardner, Manninen, Wickstrom, Prather and Ogburn.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 14.—Charges of malfeasance in office against Fred Hornsby, president of the Union Miners of Hocking Valley were to be heard late today by the executive board of the United Mine Workers of America, district of Ohio.

The board consists of nine members. Hornsby is one of the members.

Acid Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"
Better than Soda

Hereafter, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gasses. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875. adv.

He counted evidently without consideration of the fact that Cincinnati is the hardest hitting team in the National League, having led the circuit all season. And he failed to take into consideration that Cincinnati has never been more than two points behind the league-leading Chicago Cubs in fielding and are considerably above the Cardinals in both branches of the pastime.

Other facts he failed to take cognizance of included the capable pitching of Eppa Jephtha Rixey, who let Brooklyn down with four hits Monday, shutting the Robbies out and giving the Reds their fifth straight victory. All of this while Boston was trouncing the only gathering six hits and no Cards 5 to 4 in fourteen innings enabling the Reds to tie the St. Louis for top position in the circuit.

Hornsby readily acceded to a suggestion to play Tuesday's game with the Beans as part of a double-header last Saturday in spite of the fact that it is much easier to win two games in separate days than it is to win both ends of a double header. Boston won that moved-up game, leaving the Cardinals idle Tuesday when a victory by the Reds would put them in first place undisputedly. The Noble Reds didn't do a lot of hitting off the shoots of Burleigh Grimes, Monday afternoon, they are through with the Beans.

FOOTBALL FANS WILL SEE MOST EVENLY MATCHED TEAMS, IS SAID

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 14.—Football fans this year will see keener competition among gridiron elevens of big colleges and the most evenly matched teams in the history of the game, according to Dr. John Wilce, coach of Ohio State University.

There are two reasons why fans may expect this equality, Wilce said. 1. Football has been reduced to a science and all the knowledge has been generally disseminated. All big colleges have about the same coaching staffs and these are acquainted with every method of attack and defense.

2. Shortage of good material is a problem that no longer exists. Interest in foot ball has increased tremendously and high schools are sending better candidates to college.

An increasing number of college football candidates are appearing each season—sufficient to assure a well-balanced team.

Victory, now Coach Wilce said, will be decided by the extra margin of drill of training or by an individual star like Red Grange. The tradition that one college always turns out a good team will be expected this season," Wilce said.

The "big ten" conference race, Wilce predicted, "will be the closest in history. Dr. Wilce disagreed with Coach Howard Jones of the University of Southern California that the new penalty on forward passing will tend to increase punting. "The effect of the rule will be to make passes more deadly," Wilce said. "There will be fewer incompleted passes. Players will be better trained in passing."

Wilce has obtained the services of Andy "Swede" Oberlander, All-American Dartmouth star and one of the greatest passers of the game to drill the Ohio team in tossing the ball. The aerial game long has been a favorite with Wilce.

Turning to Ohio State's prospects, Dr. Wilce said:

"We are fortunate to have more players eligible this year than we did last."

Wilce said this meant the prospects were better than last year, for a balanced team.

But he added, practically all schools of the "big ten" except possibly Indiana, which is a dark horse, ought to have well balanced teams.

DIVORCED—MARRIED
Divorced from Charles Henry Smith and restored to her maiden name in Common Pleas Court Monday morning, Georgine Louise Lesprance appeared in Probate Court Monday afternoon with David A. Miller and the couple obtained a license to marry. Both are from Spring Valley. Mr. Miller is a railroad employe.

Pity The Sharks!

THE ENGLISH CHANNEL has been so cluttered up with greased humanity trying to swim from coast to coast this summer that the sharks have had to go to school elsewhere.

It seems that all the people who were in De Russey's Lane the night of the Hall-Mills murder four years ago are holding this year's convention in the English Channel.

All of this is news, however. The complicated gyrations of the four-year-old investigation of the New Jersey murder still possesses that newspaper quality of interest no less than the thrilling experience of the channel swimmers. These events with other world news matters, have been accurately and swiftly reported in the news columns of this paper.

The Hall-Mills case bobbed up again because newspaper publicity made it of such sustained interest that the public demanded its solution. In this way the newspaper plays a public duty. The merchant who dodges publicity by refusing to advertise is burying his business in the obscurity of fleeting time.

WEIGHED ONLY 98 POUNDS

Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cleveland, Ohio.—"After having my first baby, I lost weight, no matter what I did. Then a doctor told me I would be better if I had another baby, which I did. But I got worse, was always sickly and went down to 98 pounds. My neighbor told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it helped her very much, so I risked it. After taking four bottles, I weigh 116 pounds. It has just done wonders for me and I can do my housework now without one bit of trouble."—Mrs. M. RIESSINGER, 10004 Nelson Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

If some good fairy should appear, and offer to grant your heart's desire, what would you choose?

Wealth? It's a transient thing that brings its own cares.

Happiness? It's an elusive thing which we keep by giving away.

Health? That's the best gift. Health is riches that goit cannot buy and surely health is cause enough for happiness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be the good fairy who offers you better health.

PAJAMA PARADE IS STAGED AT ANTIOCH

Annual frosh pajama parade was staged by Antioch freshmen and sophomores of Antioch College, Monday night. The line of pajama-clad students was led through the village by the sophomores, armed with paddles which are an important part of the ceremony. At the opera house, where the traditional "goat" was incarcerated, a public performance was given, prior to the "closed session." David Root, president of the sophomores, introduced the freshman president, Elliot Davis, who spoke on "Why I Came To Antioch," in closing he said, "I came to Antioch because I heard they were smart here—I find them not averse to passing on their smartness—in fact, I still am."

Guyton Osborn, upper classman, furnished piano accompaniment for the Charleston danced by the tallest and shortest froshes.

ADMINISTRATRIX NAMED IN COURT

Mrs. Olive Simpson, was appointed administratrix of the estate of her husband, Archie Simpson, killed in a gun duel in the east end last Tuesday, by probate court. She gave $500 bond to cover the value of the estate which she listed as real property which will have to be sold to pay debts.

DISMISS CHARGE

Charges of stealing a mint vending machine containing $70 brought against Charles C. Nelson, N. Detroit St., by Abe Faris of Wilmington, were dismissed by Mayor E. P. West of Wilmington, when it was learned that the $70 had not been touched and that the machine was not taken out of Wilmington.

EAST END NEWS

POLITICAL FIGHTS LIVEN NINE STATES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Battles for control of state political machines and "wet-dry" clashes, kindled interest in primary contests in nine states today.

Meanwhile the early election in Maine, always regarded by Republican leaders as a barometer of the national trend, was hailed by the G. O. P. when returns indicated Governor Ralph Brewster, Republican, had defeated his Democratic opponent, Ernest L. McLean.

Voters went to the polls in Michigan, Colorado, Vermont, Louisiana, Maryland, Washington, Massachusetts, New York and South Carolina. The latter state was holding a "run-off" primary.

JEWS CELEBRATE DAY OF ATONEMENT

Xenia Jews will celebrate the annual Day of Atonement or Yom Kippur, Saturday, Sept. 18. Local Jewish business houses will close on that day and members of the faith will take part in services at Dayton synagogues.

The day will be ushered in Friday evening with a solemn service in all the synagogues, and will be devoted to prayer and fasting. A memorial service will be held in honor of the departed during the day.

The Day of Atonement is an ancient institution, dating back to Jewish Bible times. It is observed by all Jews, whether Reform or Orthodox.

YELLOW SPRINGS

The Public Schools opened Monday with a large enrollment. Antioch School will open Wednesday. The students who have registered for the coming year and will need homes, will be taken care of by Mrs. Edna Jones, who is in charge of the Neff House in the Glen.

The Gilded Rose

By May Christie

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY:

ROSILYN RIDGEWAY learns on her wedding day from idle gossip that she has been married for her money. Before her enormous fortune was left her, she had been an over-worked little drudge in her father's inn.

LANDIS RIDGEWAY, her husband, is a brilliant, fascinating man, who was forced into the marriage by his mother. Rosilyn, loving her husband, knows he is still in love with LYDIA HARBROOK, a beautiful, cold society girl who is bent on marrying Landis.

STEVE VAN VORST, is a wealthy old roue, friendly with RUPERT BRISCOE, a dissipated man of the world, has seen Rosilyn but once, and yet is deeply interested in her. Lydia learns of this interest, and she and Briscoe concoct a plot whereby Rosilyn and Briscoe will see a great deal of each other, and Lydia will have a chance to exert her wiles upon Landis. The plan works, and Landis, finding himself often alone with Lydia falls under her spell once more.

Van Vorst, however, hungering for her love, decides to use MARIETTA FERNANDEZ, a dancer and sweetheart of Briscoe's in connection with a scheme. These two come to New York where Marietta begins to vamp Landis away from Lydia, leaving a clear field for the elderly schemer.

In the country at the Ridgeway place, Rosilyn, in a fever of jealousy and anxiety over the protracted disappearance of her husband seeks the solace of the countryside. After an exciting adventure she is rescued by Briscoe who tells a "fishy" story to account for his proximity to the scene. Soon after Landis effects a reconciliation with Rosilyn and becomes his old lovable self. In the city meanwhile Marietta feels her power over Briscoe declining and commits suicide.

Lydia then urges Briscoe to compromise Rosilyn so as to give herself more power over Landis.

According to her plan Lydia informs Landis that his wife and Briscoe can be found alone at the Inn.

Landis arrives at the Inn, bests Briscoe in a fight, and is driving along the highway when Annie Rosilyn's old servant, greets him with the cry that "She is dead."

Arriving at the scene of the wreck Landis finds her, badly stunned, but uninjured. Back at the Inn the next day he gently asks her if she knew that Briscoe had been there shortly before, waiting for her.

CHAPTER 72.

BRISCOE'S FATE

"Why! I didn't even tell him definitely I was coming here at all! He told me it would 'clear the cobwebs' from my brain, and he sort of urged me into coming back to my old home for a little while. But I never said I was coming and never in the world did I dream that he—"

She broke off, her face flushing hotly under the sudden realization of Briscoe's treachery and the wickedness. "Landis, you don't think—you wouldn't believe—"

Her husband touched her shoulder with a caressing gesture.

"Of course not, Rosilyn! I know you—and I know Briscoe. I never ought to have let the fellow near you. I believe everything you say."

The bewildered look was still in her pretty eyes.

"If he came here, how did he get in? And how did you find him? And where is he now?"

"He said," pronounced Landis slowly, "that you sent him the key of the inn."

Rosilyn was amazed again.

"I only had one key, and I kept it in my own purse. He must have found the other in its hidey-hole near the back-door, in the yard. Now I remember, I once told him—years ago—about the hidey-hole. It was when he was locked out and I had to get up and let him in. I told him there was always a key under that stone—it was about three years ago, when I was seven—"

I was so tired out, working all day, and it was awful to be roused at night by any of the guests coming back late—though Father told me I oughtn't to have let Mr. Briscoe know where the key was kept."

Landis nodded.

Rosilyn went on, eagerly:

"You found him inside the house, didn't you? What did he tell you? How did he explain?"

Her husband looked rather grim as he replied:

"Not very much was said, but I'm afraid I married his beauty, rather. You see, he lied about some one who is very, very dear to me."

"Was—was it I?" faltered Rosilyn.

"Yes. You are dear to me, Rosilyn. Do you know that?"

Below her breath, she whispered "Lydia Harbrook."

"That's over and done with, Rosilyn, if you'll only forgive me. The boodling incident, too. I—I hated her—that night—because I knew the talk that would take place—and how you'd feel—and—and I love you, Rosilyn! I know now 'hat I love you, heart and soul, and always will!"

"Oh, Landis!" She nestled in his arms, like a lonely little bird who had found sanctuary. "Oh, Landis! It's unbelievably wonderful! I—I— you see—I've loved you ever since I was a baby—"

"Sweetheart! Mine!" He caught her in his arms and kissed her.

Six months later, Mrs. Ridgeway Senior was taking tea in the Ritz Hotel with some of her special cronies, and among them was the one who had croaked so at Landis' wedding.

"How is the Gilded Rose?" The gossip queried.

Mrs. Ridgeway frowned, then her patrician features relaxed into a smile.

"She makes a wonderful wife for Landis," and he idolizes her!"

"Really?" The word was drawled out half incredulously. "Has he quite got over his infatuation for the Harbrook woman, then?"

"Oh, that!" Landis' mother dismissed the subject with a shrug of the shoulders, as though it were not worth discussing. "He was only flirting with poor Lydia. She's not the sort men want to marry, and Rosilyn is a thousand times more attractive. Landis soon found that out. As a matter of fact, the money question doesn't enter into

PRESS CONGRESS OF WORLD IS OPENING AT GENEVA TUESDAY

GENEVA, Sept. 14.—With an overwhelming preponderance of Americans and a fair sprinkling from other countries, the Third Press Congress of the World met here today under the leadership of Dean Walter Williams of the Columbia of Journalism for a five day session.

The American contingent to the congress numbered over two hundred. The delegates, upon their arrival by special train from Cherrbourg were received by a local committee embracing the principal correspondents and newspaper men stationed at Geneva as well as officials of the League of Nations and especially from the latter's Information Section.

The sessions of the congress for the first three days will be held at Geneva, while the last two days will place at Lausanne. During the three days at Geneva all of the delegates will be given seats in the press galleries of the League of Nations for the sessions of the Seventh Assembly which is now in progress.

During the course of the congress reports will be received and read from various committees on news communications, freedom of the press, interchange of journalists, journalistic education, ethics and standards of practice and promotion of welfare of Journalists.

Addresses on questions interesting journalists will also be delivered by a number of leading international editors, correspondents and journalists generally.

Following the final sessions at Lausanne on the eighteenth, the entire congress will leave on an extended tour of Switzerland, Paris, Brussels and London. The American contingent is due to sail for home from London on October 9.

EAST END NEWS

Mrs. Pattie Turner Alston and son, John Cyrus, who have been making a tour of the New England States, have returned home. They report a beautiful country and lovely people.

APPLE GROWING IS GAINING IN WEST

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—The new west is out-doing the old east in commercial apple growing. The American apple region is shifting from the east to Washington, Oregon and Idaho, according to the Agriculture Department. Growers in the west specialize in Winesap, Jonathan, Rome, Spitzbergen, Delicious and Yellow Newtown varieties.

The east, however, continues to lead in producing Baldwin, Greening, Northern Spy, and Ben Davis varieties.

Western producers distribute their apples mainly in boxes. Last season they exported approximately 6,000,000 boxes of the fruit.

A Girl's Critical Age

READING between the lines, it takes a mother or sister to divine the needs of a girl just budding into womanhood: "My sister was not very strong and had been taking all sorts of pills and stuff for constipation. She was fourteen and of course embarrassed with pimples. So I bought her a large bottle of Syrup Pepsin. She has had no constipation since, her complexion is good and she is much stronger, healthier and happier. Now I always recommend Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin." (Name and address will be sent on request.)

Has Brought Up Entire Families

Syrup Pepsin is a mainstay from infancy to full growth. Sour, bilious stomach, headache, coated tongue, colds, feverish daily ills—all vanish. Children play right after a dose. Mothers stop their own terrible sick headache, indigestion, constipation. Makes old folks happy, contented. Truly a family medicine in its highest meaning. Get it today—any druggist, anywhere.

For a free trial bottle send name and address to Pepsin Syrup Company, Monticello, Illinois.

AMY'S OBJECTIONS TO THE INCONVENIENCE OF TRAVELING IN TWO SEPARATE CARS, WERE FURTHER AGGRAVATED WHEN THEIR NEW-FOUND FRIENDS, MR. AND MRS. GULF, DISPLAYED A STRANGE RELUCTANCE TO PASS THROUGH ANY CITIES.

WHAT'S THE BIG IDEA OF DRIVING AROUND THE TOWN? THE HIGHWAY GOES RIGHT THROUGH ON THE MAIN STREET. IS HE CUCKOO?

GOING THROUGH TRAFFIC BOTHERS MR. GULF. THE TRAFFIC LIGHTS CONFUSE HIM. BESIDES, HE SAYS WE'LL SAVE TIME BY NOT HAVING TO SLOW UP IN IT.

I SHOULD WORRY IF HE THINKS I'M A HICK DRIVER. I'VE GOT MORE REASONS'N ONE FOR DODGING TRAFFIC COPS.

I'M LOST ON THESE SIDE STREETS. WHICH WAY DID THEY GO? I WAS TRYING TO MISS THAT BROKEN BOTTLE, AND DIDN'T SEE HIM TURN.

THERE HE IS, IN THAT ALLEY. HE'S TURNING AROUND, SUCH A DINGY NEIGHBORHOOD TO GET US INTO. I DON'T FEEL SAFE HERE.

SORRY, FOLKS! WE'VE GOT TO GO BACK. THESE STREETS DON'T GO THROUGH. WE'LL HAVE TO STICK TO MAIN STREET, AFTER ALL.

WE'RE SAVING A LOT OF TIME LISTENING TO HIM. HE'LL HAVE US DIZZY RUNNING AROUND IN CIRCLES, LIKE A BUZZ SAW.

DAUGHERTY LAWYER OPPOSES EVIDENCE GIVEN BY BUCKNER

Merton Continues To Testify In Property Trial

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Efforts to introduce into the Daugherty-Miller conspiracy trial today, certain correspondence of the Swiss-Metal Securities Co., and John Foster Dulles, New York attorney, brought out sharp conflict between attorneys for the two defendants.

Following yesterday's indications that Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian and Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, would act independently in defense of the joint charge against them—each fighting his own battle—today's developments were considered significant.

Max Steuer, attorney for Daugherty, objected strenuously to introduction by U. S. Attorney Emory Buckner, of the correspondence. It was pointed out that the way for the evidence had been opened by the cross-examination of Richard Merton by Col. William Rand, attorney for Miller.

"Col. Rand," exclaimed Steuer, "represents a different and separate client than I and he is conducting the defense of his client in the light of the best advice he had."

"What purpose he had in view, however, I don't divine."

Judge Julian Mack, presiding, commented that he thought Steuer had acquiesced to the evidence by his silence.

"I seemed to acquiesce because to do otherwise would have been unseemly," answered Steuer, "but to allow the gates to be opened to hearsay not affecting Daugherty, would be wrong."

"I acquiesced only out of respect to Col. Rand."

"I am not here in a baby act." The letter finally was admitted against Steuer's exceptions.

Merton, the German financier, who is alleged to have paid $411,000 in commissions to the late John T. King, for securing return to his group of $7,000,000 of seized assets of the American Metal Co. was under examination by Butler.

He said the Swiss concern's activities were controlled largely by an executive committee. He told of the meetings of the committee and how finally the letter to Dulles in New York was sent, asking advice on the possibility of securing return of the seized property.

The letter was then offered and the objections by Steuer resulted.

DECISION UPHOLDS
LENGEL DISCHARGE
BY CANTON'S MAYOR

Sustains Charges Made
In Connection With Murder

CANTON, O., Sept. 14.—The discharge of S. A. Lengel, as chief of police, of Canton, was upheld today by unanimous vote of the civil service commission.

The decision of the commission was announced this morning by James Alderdice, chairman, after the committee held a four hour session last night, debating the case.

Lengel was discharged by Mayor Swarts on charges of "bunzlung" the investigation of the Don R. Mellett murder case and with being too friendly with the underworld. Previously Lengel had twice been suspended.

Lengel was given a trial last week before the civil service commission on the charges. A score of witnesses testified at the hearing as to the intimacy existing between Lengel and underworld characters.

An appeal to the common pleas court probably will be taken by Lengel, his attorneys indicated.

GRAND JURY WILL LEARN OF GAMBLING

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 14.—Evidence as to gambling gathered by A. M. Henderson, attorney, will be presented to the Mahoning County grand jury here it was announced today by Prosecutor Thomas.

Henderson made his investigation in an effort to recover some of the money lost gambling in Mahoning and Trumbull Counties by Harold Williams, who has admitted embezzling $50,000 from the Dollar Savings and Trust Company.

Farm Caretaker's Story Indicates Hall-Mills Murder Took Place In Residence

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Sept. 14.—Four years ago today the Rev. Edward W. Hall, pastor of the church of St. John-The-Divine, in New Brunswick, was murdered with Mrs. Eleanor Mills, choir singer in the church.

Two days later their bodies were found on the Phillips farm, near that city.

With no satisfactory story of the murder ever given, the Phillips farm was again the center of interest in the case today.

Detectives intended to question Mike Sullis, former care taker of the farm.

The story told by Sullis indicated that the pastor and choir singer may not have been murdered under the tree where their bodies were found but in the Phillips farm house. It was supposedly untenant at the time, but Sullis, who was found by investigators last night, said it was being used by some one.

Sullis said he had looked in the window and found evidence of secret occupancy.

On September 15, the day after the murders, Sullis said he passed a crab-apple tree and no bodies were found. He was certain he would have seen them and that they must have been placed there that night. The next day they were found carefully arranged and with a stack of love letters from Hall to Mrs. Mills between them.

When the farm house was examined, it was found that a mattress was missing from a bedroom. It was never found.

Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the murdered pastor is held on a charge of murder with her brother, Willie Stevens and their cousin, Henry De La Bruyere Carpenter, New York broker.

GREENVILLE MAN TO BECOME PASTOR OF FIRST CHURCH HERE

Rev. W. A. Shank Given Assignment To Succeed Dr. Stanton

The Rev. W. A. Shank, Greenville, O., was assigned as pastor of First A. M. E. Church, Xenia, when pastorate assignments in the Dayton district were made at the closing sessions of the Methodist Episcopal conference at Toledo, late Monday.

The Rev. Mr. Shank has been at Greenville three years as pastor of the First M. E. Church. Before that time he was located at Alta O. for five years. Previously he was pastor of Central Ave. M. E. Church, Toledo, three years and before that at Monroe St. Church, the same city. He has been various charges during his pastorate of the past twenty-five years.

The new pastor is expected to arrive in Xenia in time for next Sunday's services. The Rev. F. C. Stanton, who has resigned from the local pastorate and been granted a year's leave from preaching, will deliver his farewell sermon next Sunday night at Union services.

The Rev. and Mrs. Stanton and their daughter will leave soon for Franklin, O., to occupy their new home.

The Rev. V. F. Brown was returned to the Trinity M. E. pastorate here. Members of his congregation petitioned the conference for his return, which was granted.

The Rev. E. R. Grigsby was appointed pastor of Bowersville M. E. circuit, taking the place of the Rev. Claude M. Steele, who has been assigned to a charge in Central Ohio. The Rev. Mr. Grigsby has been in the conference two years.

The Rev. S. M. Ingmire has been assigned to Cedarville, succeeding the Rev. Joseph Bennett who was sent to Lima, O. The Rev. Mr. Ingmire has been in the conference four years and graduated from the Evanston Theological School last spring.

The Rev. D. B. Fleming was returned to the Fairfield-Brandt pastorate. The Rev. L. D. Vesey was returned to Jamestown. The Rev. M. L. Masie will continue in New Jasper Circuit and the Rev. J. V. Patton will continue his work at Yellow Springs.

OBREGON KIDNAPED BY YAQUI INDIANS

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 14.—Friends of former President Obregon of Mexico said today that he had been kidnaped by Yaqui Indians after a three hour battle near Lencho, Sonora, where 1,000 Indians were said to have attacked the former president's train.

Obregon is said to have escaped or to have been released and his friends here believe he has reached his home between Cajam and Guaymas.

NEW COURT INDICTS TWELVE FIRST TIME

STEUBENVILLE, O., Sept. 14.—The first term of the new U. S. district court of the Southern District of Ohio resulted in twelve indictments, six of which were secret.

WIDOW OF ONE GUN DUEL VICTIM SUES WIDOW OF THE OTHER FOR ALIENATION

While the two men victims of a gun duel which they fought to the death over the affections of the wife of one of them last Tuesday on E. Second St., lie in Cherry Grove cemetery, the aggrieved wife of one of the victims began a legal battle Monday in an effort to redress her wrongs.

Mrs. Sadie Wright, Jamestown, wife of Newton Wright, one of the victims, sued Mrs. Olive Simpson, wife of Archie Simpson, who was killed in defending the honor of his home, for $5000 damages for alienation of the affections of her husband.

The petition filed in common pleas court by Attorney F. W. to Dunkle, alleges that the defendant associated with the plaintiff's late husband over a period of four years or more since July 30, 1922 and prior thereto. That she "wrongfully, maliciously and unlawfully associated with Wright, harbored him at her residence during the absence of her husband, wrote letters to him at his home in Jamestown, and joined him in trips to other cities under the relation of husband and wife, alienating his affections and causing him to be dissatisfied with the plaintiff. That she was caused great mental and bodily distress and was deprived of the support and society of her husband."

The petition makes no reference to the double tragedy.

LETTERS STRENGTHEN THEN CHARGE THAT EVANGELIST FRAMED HOAX

May Recall Mrs. McPherson Before Grand Jury— Credentials Given Mrs. Wiseman Held By Authorities

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Sept. 14.—A number of telegrams and letters seized by authorities in a safety deposit box are purported to strengthen the charges that Almee Semple McPherson, evangelist, planned the "Miss X" hoax to protect herself from public scandal, following her "kidnapping" three months ago.

Recalling of Mrs. McPherson before the grand jury was among the possibilities following the "confession" of Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman Seiffert, whose charges are said to be voluntary statements.

Among the documents seized were directions for getting to Carmel-by-the-Sea from Venice. It was on the beach at Venice that Mrs. McPherson disappeared to reappear later at Douglas, Ariz., to tell her now famous story of being "kidnapped."

A note among the statements seized said:

"This will introduce Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman. Any information helping us to get a message to Mr. Ormiston in the interests of justice to Mrs. McPherson will be deeply appreciated. Thank you. Mrs. M. Kennedy, Mother."

NEWARK, O., Sept. 14.—When students at Denison University in Granville came to school yesterday and visited their fraternity houses, they were met with sad tales of hard luck for thieves during the night had ransacked four chapter houses and escaped with $350 in cash, a watch and a fraternity pin.

The fraternity houses entered included Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Lambda Chi Alpha and Kappa Sigma.

THREE ARRESTED

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 14.—Three men and two women today were held by police as a result of the stabbing yesterday of William Dalton, 24, movie organizer and William E. Dutcher, salesman. The arrests were made after police traced the automobile license number, said by Dalton to have been carried by the attackers. The stabbing occurred during an argument following a collision.

CONFESSION FAILS TO SAVE MURDERER

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Sept. 14.—The confession of Ruby Ray, flapper bandit that she killed W. H. Cheek, Atlanta grocer, having failed to save Mel Gore, youthful murderer, he had only one hope of escaping electrocution before night.

Unless the state supreme court rules favorably upon a mandamus petition to stay the execution, Gore will be electrocuted "some time before 4 p. m."

FOUR STATES HOLDING PRIMARY ELECTIONS TUESDAY

NEW YORK

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 14.—New York State electors went to the primary polls today to elect delegates to the state conventions, nominees for the House of Representatives, a new legislature, and county officers.

The major state and judicial offices having been removed from the primary elections, interest centered principally in the contests for the congressional nominations, of which there are seven—five in the Republican ranks, and two in the Democratic circle.

So far as can be learned here, prohibition plays but little part in any of the contests; there being just one where efforts have been made to inject the issue.

Organization leaders of both parties were confident that where contests are on, the organization candidate will be named.

Republicans and Democrats will hold their state convention this year on the same date, September 29; the Republicans meeting in New York and the Democrats going to Syracuse.

MICHIGAN

LANSING, Mich., Sept. 14.—Michigan electors went to decide today whether to honor the claims of Governor Alex J. Groesbeck to a fourth term in office against the objections of dozens of politicians who were formerly his friends.

Opposed to him in the primary contest is Fred W. Green, mayor of Lonia, Mich., who is backed by some former members of the Groesbeck organization as well as avowed "insurgents." The governor in the campaign which closed last night, broke his precedent by making a state-wide stump tour and declared he was confident of victory. Green's friends are equally confident that their combined influence and steady campaigning will overcome the governor's admittedly large personal following.

While Governor Groesbeck's frequent brushes with the Washington administration during the last few years have been mentioned slightly by his opponents, the outcome of the state primaries today will be little indication of attitude of the voters toward national affairs because of failure to stress the situation during the campaign.

VERMONT

BURLINGTON, Vt., Sept. 14.—With Porter H. Dale unopposed for his seat in the United States Senate, interest in today's state primaries centered upon a three-cornered contest for the Republican nomination for Governor.

President Coolidge's native Vermont as to have been the scene of a lively senatorial battle, but the sudden withdrawal some weeks ago of former Governor W. W. Stickney, law partner of Atty. Gen. John G. Sargent, left Dale with an open field. Poor health was announced as the cause for Stickney's resignation from the contest.

Today's gubernatorial contest has aroused more than ordinary interest throughout the state because there are three candidates instead of the usual two in the race. The aspirants are Lieut. Gov. Walter K. Farnsworth, Judge John E. Weeks, and Max Powell, and the main issue concerns the question of bonding as a means of raising funds for highway improvements.

Herbert Cummings, of Richmond, Democratic candidate for governor, is unopposed in the primaries.

NO ONE DARES TO MISS "THE GIRL WHO DARED"

May Christie's New Story Begins In This Paper Tomorrow

"Amid the incessant hum of twenty typewriters in one of Atlanta's busiest offices, the nimble fingers of Miss Mary Forrest clicked with the utmost speed and accuracy upon the keys of her machine."

"Mary was twenty-five. Brisk. Capable; not pretty with a novelistic prettiness. Yet with a definite attraction of her own."

"Her hair was unshorn, dark brown, parted in the middle, its becoming neatness gave a pleasing contrast to the many pert and singled coiffures all about. Her clear skin—a little pallid through seven years of indoor office work—was quite devoid of all those marvelous 'aids' you read about in the advertising columns, while her deepest, wise young eyes gazed forth from lashes that were just as nature had intended them to be."

"Want to read more? Sounds good, doesn't it? It ought to for above are the first three paragraphs of 'The Girl Who Dared,' that new and charming novel that May Christie has written for The Evening Gazette and The Morning Republican."

Miss Christie's first story for these papers, "The Gilded Rose," comes to an interesting end today. Her new story, the one quoted partially above will start in this paper tomorrow. Without interruption you are insured entertainment from some of the best newspaper fiction of recent years.

Miss Christie is a master of character-creation as she is a master of plot unfolding. Therefore her readers become so interested in the characters themselves that they also become involved mentally with the skeins of the story.

That's the awy Miss Christie's stories get under your skin and those who have read "The Gilded Rose," will attest to that fact. In the meantime, shine up your spectacles for the beginning of an autumn feast of literature that will keep you interested until snow files.

DIES IN HOSPITAL

SHARON, Pa., Sept. 14.—Mrs. Esther J. Davis, 74, mother of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, died in a hospital here early today. She was taken suddenly ill Monday at her home here and removed to the institution.

WILL LAUNCH CAMPAIGN TO SAVE OHIO'S DIRECT PRIMARY LAW

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 14.—An active campaign will be made in the next two months to save the direct primary elections in Ohio. It was announced here by J. F. Burke, Elyria, chairman of the newly formed primary defense league.

A protest against the legality of the state-wide petitions asking for a referendum to repeal the direct primary election amendment to the state constitution, was filed by the league yesterday with Secretary of State Thad H. Brown.

At an organization meeting here, plans were formulated for a state-wide fight against the proposed amendment.

Officers elected included Burke, chairman; State Senator George Bender, Cleveland; John J. Lentz, president of the American Insurance Union, Columbus; Mayor A. C. McDonald, Dayton and J. F. Witten, Columbus, vice presidents; Meta W. Peters, Cleveland, secretary and Mary Weaver, Cleveland, treasurer.

Members of the executive committee: Mrs. G. A. Russell, Dayton; Mrs. Florence D. Richards, state president of the W. C. T. U., and William Racey, Sandusky.

Adjudged "Miss America"

Norma Descygne Smallwood, of Tulsa, Okla., was chosen "Miss America" at the Atlantic City beauty pageant.

COMPLETE REPUBLICAN VICTORY IS OUTCOME OF MAINE ELECTION

Brewster Leads Democrat Opponent By 20,000 In Early Returns—State Picks Four G. O. P. Congressmen Also

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 14.—A complete Republican victory was indicated today by returns from Monday's state election.

Gov. Ralph O. Brewster, Republican, seeking re-election, had a lead of more than 20,000 votes over Ernest L. McLean, Democrat, this morning when approximately three-quarters of the state had been heard from.

The vote stood:

Brewster, Republican, 98,593; McLean, Democrat, 77,789; Brewster's majority 20,804.

Indications were that Brewster would at least maintain the lead he now has.

The four Republican candidates for re-election to congress also won comparatively easy victories. These were Congressmen Carroll Beedy, John E. Nelson, W. H. White and Ira G. Hersey. They defeated Richard Herson, Edward Chase, Charles M. Starbird and Frank A. Peabody respectively.

A heavy vote was registered against a constitutional amendment to prohibit appropriations of public funds for the use of private schools and other institutions.

Maine did not elect a U. S. Senator. A special election will be held later in the year to choose a senator. A special election will be held term of the late Senator Bert M. Fernald.

The vote stood:

Brewster, Republican, 98,593; McLean, Democrat, 77,789; Brewster's majority 20,804.

Indications were that Brewster would at least maintain the lead he now has.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Another farm relief bill will be offered at the next session of Congress by Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio, whose Coolidge supported relief plan was rejected last spring.

Senator Fess said today his new proposal would be "nonpartisan."

"The difficulty with farm legislation has been that Democrats and Republicans have been unable to agree on the tariff," he said. "The measure that we will offer at the next session will be designed with the idea of compromising these difficulties so that a farm bill can be enacted."

"The agriculturalists of the West have the erroneous idea that the tariff works against them. Our plan will permit the farmers to organize just as labor has done and turn the farm produce market from a buyer's market to a seller's market. If the farmers can control their market through co-operation their troubles will be over."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—An increase in membership of 5,000 during the past year is reported in the annual report made public today of the executive committee of the American Legion of Ohio.

This is the first membership increase shown in Ohio in three years and places the state in fourth place among the state's in membership standing.

AMERICAN LEGION HOSTS ON INCREASE

ELYRIA, O., Sept. 14.—An increase in membership of 5,000 during the past year is reported in the annual report made public today of the executive committee of the American Legion of Ohio.

This is the first membership increase shown in Ohio in three years and places the state in fourth place among the state's in membership standing.

CHAUFFEUR FOUND DEAD FROM BULLET

CLEVELAND, Sept. 14.—The body of Andrew Malone, 32, chauffeur, was found today hidden under an arch on the Kinsman Road. Death was due to a bullet through the heart. There were four other wounds.

Officials were endeavoring to learn where Malone spent the early hours of the evening and to locate his automobile.

During the war Malone was a sergeant at Camp Sherman.

FEDERAL TROOPS IN SEARCH OF BANDITS IGNORING THREATS

Authorities Believe Rescue Will Soon Be Effected

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 14.—Despite threats of the kidnapers of Jacob Rosenthal, wealthy American to kill him if they are pursued, Mexican federal troops were searching for them today, with his fate a mystery.

The troops were being guided by Jacob Ruff, son-in-law of Rosenthal and Jack Zahler, local businessman from whose automobile Rosenthal was seized Sunday as the party of Americans was returning to Mexico City from Cuernavaca, a resort city. Zahler, his wife and Ruff were robbed but not held.

After marching Rosenthal away, one of the bandits returned and handed Zahler a letter to the troop commander at Cuernavaca threatening to kill the prisoner if they are pursued.

Relatives fear the ordeal may prove too much for Rosenthal who is 62 and in ill health and unable to bargain with his captors because of his inability to speak Spanish.

Military authorities here announced today they expected the early capture of the bandits and rescue of Rosenthal. Military police from here, sent out to assist in the search, reported they had traced the bandits from Huixtla in the direction of Mount Teacape.

Authorities said they believed Rosenthal's captors are the same bandits who held up and killed several Mexican students on the same road several months ago.

Rosenthal, whose home is at Woodmen, Long Island, is a retired New York business man on his first visit to Mexico in twenty years.

CONFERENCE OPENS AT GALLIPOLIS, O.

GALLIPOLIS, O., Sept. 14.—The 115th annual session of the Ohio conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church North, will open here today with a communion led by Bishop Henderson, Cincinnati.

He will preside at all meetings. Three hundred ministers from the South Ohio District, are here to attend the meetings which will be held Sept. 14-19.

Speakers on the program are Senator Frank B. Willis, Bishop Henderson, Francis McConnell, Pittsburgh; Fred B. Fisher, Indianapolis; Dr. J. W. Hoffman, president, Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware; Dr. George Mackleson, President Linsly College, Wheeling; E. M. Cherryington, General Secretary of the World League against Alcoholism and Dr. D. D. Forsythe, Washington, D. C.

At the Sunday evening session, the Bishop will read appointments of ministers to pastorates.

PARTIES GATHER TO FORM PLATFORMS

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 14.—Leaders of the Democratic and Republican parties gathered here today for conferences at which platforms will be constructed, committee heads chosen and plans discussed for the November elections.

Interest centered on the Democratic meeting which will be addressed this afternoon by Senator James A. Reed. Six years ago Reed was read out of the state convention for his stand against the League of Nations. This year he will make the keynote address and his views probably will influence building of a platform.

PROBE CONDITIONS IN CANTON "WORKS"

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 14.—Inaugurating an investigation of conditions in the Canton workhouse, Police Chief Kedgwin Powell declared today he would "go the limit" to see if prisoners have been mistreated and to correct any evils. Former prisoners in the workhouse will be called to testify as to methods of punishment used and other conditions. Charges of mistreatment were made before Judge Joseph Heferman, by three Youngstown prisoners.

ARREST CONSTABLE

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 14.—Arrested on a charge of accepting a $200 bribe, Frank R. Seibles, constable working out of the court of Justice E. C. Loggie, was held under $5,000 bond after pleading not guilty.

Seibles was alleged to have taken the $200 from Fred Miller, whom he arrested last week on charges of illegal possession and transportation of liquor.

IS JAZZ DYING OUT? NO SAY EXPERTS; THEY DECLARE, HOWEVER, THAT JAZZ IS CHANGING

Is jazz dying out? It isn't, judging from the number of jazz phonograph records sold by Xenia the record stores, which accounts for the peppy taste in music. Dealers report, however, of selling a large number of the more sentimental records, and religious hymns and marches still have their followers.

"Jazz isn't dying—it is simply changing," said the leader of a popular dance orchestra. Xenia admirers of jazz point out that love tales and subjects that were

and have a song hit. Naturally, when a song is composed in this way, it has a tried and tested melody.

"But 'jazz,' if that you mean 'hot' dance music, is not dying. Instead it is growing more and more popular. The radio has had something to do with this. The Charleston, now seemingly on its last legs, was also a factor."

This orchestra leader, however, spoke of jazz as applied to music. The jazz spirit has been manifest in many other phases of life. The proprietor of a great dance hall was asked about jazz dancing.

"The present tendency," he said, "is toward milder dancing. The Charleston is no longer popular. Hardly any two couples dance alike these days, and in general, dancing is more graceful and less extreme than it has been for the past few years. However, there will be some new fad in dance steps come along one of these days."

No More Gray Hair

Don't think your hair need remain streaked with gray—or even very gray. For more than ten years, gray haired men and women, whose hair at one time was brunette, blonde, red, auburn, brown or black, have used Kolor-Bak with entire satisfaction, and are no longer gray.

Kolor-Bak is a clean, colorless liquid that has restored youthful appearance to hundreds of thousands. As easy to apply as water, it requires no experimenting with samples of your hair.

Just ask your dealer for Kolor-Bak. The one bottle is for all hair, no matter what shade or color. Results often appear in a week. And with the disappearance of the gray hair, the tonic properties of Kolor-Bak make it splendid to use for dandruff and falling hair. Its tremendous success is clearly shown by the sale of nearly 3,000,000 bottles, which proves its superiority.

Dealers everywhere sell Kolor-Bak with guarantee to return your money if it does not bring desired results. No excuse now for any woman to look old, or any man to be considered too old for employment. Your druggist, or any store where toilet goods are sold, carries Kolor-Bak. Ask for it today.

CHAMBERLAIN NOW IN TORY DISTRICT

LONDON, Sept. 13.—According to labor circles, one of the indirect results of the coal strike has been to drive Neville Chamberlain, the Minister of Health, from the working-class district of Ladywell, Birmingham—which he has heretofore represented—to the safe Tory district of Edgbaston, Birmingham. He has been offered, and has accepted, the candidacy for Edgbaston.

Labor leaders attribute this change, unusual in a member of the Chamberlain family which, from the late Joseph Chamberlain down, has prided itself upon its ability to hold a working class district, to the attacks made upon the Ministry of Health for alleged harsh rulings as to the amounts which the Government will grant toward poor relief in the strike areas.

RANKED SECOND

TIFFIN, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Seneca County ranked second in Ohio in total attendance of farmers institutes for the year 1926. Wayne County was first with eighteen institutes and an attendance of 17,640.

ARRANGE PREMIUMS FOR AUGLAIZE FAIR

WAPAKONETA, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Premiums totaling $835 have been set aside by the management of the Auglaize County Fair to be awarded to winners in the Horse show. The fair will be held here September 21 to 25.

A revival of interest in horses will be apparent to fair-goers who attend the horse show is the belief of local breeders. A keen demand for high-class pure-bred horses is anticipated. Before the war Europe was the great horse producing continent, now America has more than twenty five per cent of all the horses in the world. Preparations are being made to care for the horses. The entries list closes September 21.

BLACK SHIRTS, RED VESTS AND KNITTED BOW TIES AMONG MALE STYLE FOIBLES

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 14.—The male fashion-plates of the movies are out-doing the girl-stars in trick style fads for all.

And that, according to the con-noisseurs, is the "ne plus ultra" of fashion, because Hollywood women are noted everywhere for their audacity in dress.

The neck-tie belt, knitted bow-tie, two-piece underwear, black shirt, and red satin vest are a few of the latest style foibles of the film heroes.

Harry Langdon, for example, has brought out a distinctly Langdonian paradox, a handknitted black bow-tie. The comedian off screen, is noted as one of the few sane dressers in the film city, where hair-grease was first popularized.

But hundreds are copying the fad, and the little old lady on a Hollywood side-street who knits Harry's neck-ties is now being stormed with Langdon admirers in search of hand-knitted black bow-ties.

Walter Pidgeon, leading man for Norma Talmadge, is wearing his trousers without belts or suspenders. Instead, he uses silk neck-ties, new or old, wound around his waspish waist, run through the pant-loops.

Black shifts, with an Italian flavor, are widely worn by the actors

Catarrh
Is So Unnecessary
When You Can End It This Easy Way

Many who have catarrh are unwilling to acknowledge it, even to themselves. Some think it is "just a cold" that will soon disappear. Others endure the discomfort needlessly, because they do not know how easily it can be ended.

Get At The Cause
Every case of catarrh can be traced to a single cause—inflammation of the mucous membrane. This is the delicate lining of the air passages of nose, throat and head.

When this membrane is inflamed there is an excessive mucous discharge, or catarrh. Local salves and ointments give some relief. But these are only temporary, because they do not reach the cause.

To end catarrh, these delicate

membranes must be toned and strengthened and the inflammation ended.

This is what Hall's Catarrh Medicine does. It acts in a scientific way, purifies the blood and reduces the inflamed membranes. Physicians everywhere know of it, and hundreds use Hall's regularly in the treatment of nasal catarrh, sinusitis, ozena, catarrhal deafness and offensive breath.

Get Hall's Catarrh Medicine at your nearest druggist. He will tell you it is the most successful catarrh treatment he has known in 40 years. If he is out of it, send 25c to F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

ALLEGED THIEVES

RETURNED TO TROY TO FACE CHARGES

Fred McGee, 27, Troy, former Xenian, and Ashby Simpson, 40, Dayton, both colored, who were arrested in Dayton last week in connection with the alleged theft of meat and lard from the Braum Brothers Packing Co., Troy, which they disposed of to restaurants in Dayton, were returned to Troy and are in the Miami County jail.

When arrested, the men, both of whom were employed by the packing company, had about $100 worth of hams, bacon, pork lard and lard in a truck they were driving.

Police say that they had been selling meat in Dayton for several weeks, and it is supposed that all was stolen from the Troy plant. Dayton police received reports some time ago that two men were selling meat to restaurants in that city at very low prices. Two detectives were placed on their trail, and they learned that the men first took orders for the meat and then delivered it.

When arrested, McGee, whose family formerly lived near Wilberforce, told Dayton police that he was employed by Wilberforce University and was to deliver the meat there.

TO NEGOTIATE DRY PACT WITH CANADA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—A new anti-smuggling agreement with Canada, similar to the one recently arranged with England, will be negotiated late this month by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews.

The pact will be a "business agreement" for the exchange of information to prevent liquor smuggling and not a treaty, Andrews said.

The arrangement will be a "two way" affair to stop the flow of rum into the United States and to end smuggling of bootleg liquor into the dry provinces of Canada from America.

Secretary of State Kellogg is now arranging the date for the conference, it is understood.

While the United States now has an anti-smuggling treaty with Canada, means of putting it into effect have not been perfected.

At the meeting officials of both nations will strive to devise means to make the obligation effective.

KING SUFFERING FROM SUNBURN

LONDON, Sept. 14.—King George like thousands of his subjects, has come down with a sunburn—not an ordinary coat of tan, according to those who have seen him on the Scottish moors, but a regular red one. He got his on the Duke of Devonshire's moors at Bolton Abbey, where he has been riding his favorite pony, Polly, and engaging in grouse-shooting. The king is believed to have made a start on his sunburn aboard the royal yacht Britannia during the Coward regatta, just before he went to Scotland.

OUR PROSPERITY

Another measure of the prosperity of the United States may be found in the fact that capital, deposits and resources of the banks of the United States are greater now than at any time in the history of the republic. The figures were given recently by R. N. Sims, secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks for the annual convention at Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. Sims stated that of a total of more than 28,000 banks in the United States, 20,289 were state institutions and 8,000 national banks. These banks have a total capital, surplus, and undivided profits of more than seven billions, total deposits of more than 54 billions, and resources of more than 63 billions. Deposits increased over three billions, and total resources increased $3,467,007,427 over the highest totals of the year previous. All of the banking business of the United States in both state and national banks has increased more than 40 percent since 1919, when his first report was made, according to Mr. Sims.

This imposing percentage of increase will give us some idea of the growth and development of the United States during the past six or eight years. The country is now pretty well over the reconstruction period following the war and is once more on the high road of progress and prosperity.

There are still some pessimistic voices but they are growing fewer each year. For the present year, despite the unsettled condition of Europe, increased business is expected for the autumn months and it is now being predicted that the price of wheat may go to two dollars a bushel.

There is no question about the material prosperity of the United States. Let us see that in the rush of business and progress we do not forget the fundamental principles of the government which made such progress and prosperity possible.

BELATED HONORS

While attending the semi-centennial meeting of the American Chemical Society in Philadelphia chemists from several countries will pay tribute to Joseph Priestley, theologian and man of science, by making a pilgrimage to his grave and the home in which he spent the last years of his life.

This pilgrimage comes two years after the sesqui-centennial of Priestley's discovery of oxygen. That he had some mistaken views as to the significance of his great discovery does not impair nor lessen the distinction which this persecuted theologian must have for all time.

Priestley called oxygen "dephlogisticated air," that is, air from which the phlogiston (the constituent which was supposed to leave the other elements behind in any process of combustion) had been removed.

The discovery of oxygen is another of the many important scientific advances made by men who did not profess to be scientists. Priestley studied chemistry for recreation and aspired to be judged as a pioneer and leader in religious reform rather than for renown as a chemist. It is a singular whim of fate that he should owe his immortality to his scientific study and research rather than to his theology.

It is fitting that the greatest chemist who would ever should visit the home and grave of this persecuted theologian, this friend of freedom who was harassed for his liberal views, this scientist who was "no professed chemist," and this nation feels flattered that Priestley, as an immigrant, sought a haven here and was glad of the opportunity to be buried in the beautiful Susquehanna valley of Pennsylvania.

WHAT IS A HICK CITY?

Here is a newspaper which nominates New York as a "Hick" city because it turned out more people to welcome home Gertrude Ederle, who swam the English channel, than it did to welcome General Pershing when he came home from helping to win the war.

It also provided a larger crowd to look on the dead face of Valentino than it would to see a president. New Yorkers are not different, en masse, from the inhabitants of other cities. In fact most of them have migrated there from the country and other cities of the country. Human nature there is of a kind with human nature everywhere. New Yorkers will stop their work to see a dog fight or a man baking cakes in a window. A man demonstrating a new kind of necktie in a show window will draw a crowd every day.

Because New York is a Big city is no reason it is any less "hick" than smaller towns. In fact because it is the biggest city in the country it is the biggest "hick" city of all.

The sesqui-centennial at Philadelphia has been open three or four months, and visitors with good imaginations may now obtain an idea how it will look when complete.

FRESCOES FOUND IN ANCIENT CHURCH

UDINE, Italy, Sept. 14.—Important discoveries of ancient frescoes and sacred relics are reported from the town of Cividale, where, during the course of some restorations to the famous church of Saints Peter and Biagio, a magnificent fresco representing St. Basil, surrounded by a crowd of faithful was found under a layer of stucco.

Behind the altar of the chapel of St. Biagio, which dates from the fifth century, another ancient altar was found and some relics of the martyrs, Saints Lucidus and Ildi-un, still bearing the untouched seals of the bishop who consecrated them.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES

Mrs. R.: "I am puzzled about squashes. How are they cooked and what do they look like? Please tell me through your column whether the two vegetables I have tried to sketch at the bottom of my letter are 'squashes'."

Answer: Yes, the pictures you drew are of summer squashes. The long one being called "crook-necked" squash. They are cooked as follows: Wash, cut into small pieces, and either cook in boiling water for thirty minutes or in a steamer for one hour. Mash fine, season with salt and pepper to suit individual liking, and add plenty of butter before serving. hot.

Some people like summer squashes sliced and fried like eggplant. Other housewives like the turban or "cymlin" variety of summer squash found in the Southern States cooked whole when very young (that is, not much larger than a silver dollar). But the crook-necked and other summer squashes are richer in flavor when grown to a large size. For more mature squash it is best to remove skin and seeds before cooking. Winter squash (which is rather greenish in color, often as large as a football, but more oval than round) is cooked in the same way; it has very tough skin, which is hard to cut through, however, and for this reason many cooks place it whole in the oven and bake till tender inside, when it is easily cut, pared, mashed well hot, seasoned and served.

PEKING, Sept. 14.—Civil war in China caused an unusual wedding ceremony here when a pretty young Chinese girl was married to a photograph and solemnly carried to her new home.

The picture marriage was decided on when one Chi Shih-shu, a sub officer in one of the numerous armies, failed to get leave he had requested for his marriage ceremony. Parents of the bride and groom, who had arranged a huge wedding feast, decided to carry out the ceremony and knot-tows were made before a photograph of the groom in his absence.

sponge cake."

Answer: I published such a recipe last Wednesday (September eighth). If you failed to see it, buy a back copy of the paper or go to the newspaper files in the Circulation Department where you can copy it out. (Do not write to me for reprints of my daily articles as I do not keep them for sending out.) Since publishing that recipe, I have experimented with it and discovered that it is even better when mixed as follows: Beat four unseparated eggs, add two cups of granulated sugar, stir in two cups of pastry flour sifted with two teaspoons of baking powder and, last add three-quarters of a cup of very hot water. Bake in an eight by twelve inch pan (it raises higher than the larger pan I recommended last week) for fifty minutes in a moderate oven (that is, between 350 and 400 degrees Fahrenheit). There, I've given you the recipe after all! This cake needs no flavoring.

RECEIVES DOUBLE FRACTURE WHEN HIT BY MACHINE SUNDAY

Leon Winslow, 10, colored, Jamestown, suffered a double fracture of the right leg below the knee when he was knocked down and run over by an automobile belonging to Thurman Early, S. Detroit St., and driven by his son, Ahler Early, on N. Detroit St., near the plant of The Greene County Lumber Co., Sunday evening.

The boy darted in front of a Springfield and Xenia traction car. The accident was said to be unavoidable and Early was exonerated from blame by Deputy Sheriff John Baughn who investigated. Winslow and four white boys near his own age all from Jamestown were pushing their stalled automobile away from the traction tracks when the Winslow child became frightened and ran across the street in the path of the automobile.

The boy was taken to the Espey Hospital. He lives with his mother in Jamestown. Boys who were with him at the time were: Orville Soddors, Neal Doty, Clyde Toland and John Thomas.

Today's Talk

ONLY THOSE

I know a very famous writer who last year produced a first seller. I happen to know that she has worked and worked for years and years. Her short stories attracted attention, but her one ambition was to write a real worthwhile novel.

Last year she did it—and today she is known from one end of the country to the other. Recently she produced another novel, and it is being received with great interest and I am sure with great profit to those who read, for she writes stories that have to do with that phase of life that is vital.

But I happen to know, as well, that this girl worked in the most discouraging fashion, in a little country store and later as a newspaper reporter. She and her mother took the ruins of a business that a father left—and made it a success. And from her days of struggle and suffering of body and heart, have come fine stories of life. I like that line that I learned when a boy: "Only those are crowned and sainted, Who with grief have been acquainted. Making nations nobler—freer."

I see Hugo in a mean garret writing his immortal prose. I see the struggle of George Grey Barnard in all the magnificent cut-pieces of marble that will remain as the man himself, long after he has dropped his chisel. And his great bronzes will be immortal! Big things are not born through ease.

We have to suffer and go into the depths of despair and discouragement in order to rise to heights. We have to get knocked down over once in a while so that we may rise with greater fight in our souls.

Only those who have known disaster and failure are really worthy to wear the mantle of achievement and success.

ORIGINAL CONTRACT

Contract for building the first Court House was let April 8, 1806 to William Kendall, who was allowed $6 for clearing the timber from the public square. The house was built of brick, forty feet square and twenty-eight feet high, with a cupola in the center of the roof, ten feet in diameter and fifteen feet high. It was finished August 14, 1809, and accepted.

According to the original contract $1,000 was to be paid as soon as the house was put under cover, the balance to be paid in six months after the work was completed. The contract, signed by John Paul, clerk, and Commissioners James Snowden and John McClain, provided that as soon as work was done, money shall be paid as soon as it could be collected from those who had purchased lots.

On August 12, commissioners and the contractors agreed to an alteration in the building and drew up the following contract:

Whereas, the board of commissioners and William Kendall have agreed to an alteration in part of the Court House in the following manner, said Kendall is to erect a hip roof in said Court House and a cupola, ten feet in diameter and fifteen feet high, the roof of which is to be Spanish brown and the body white, the whole of which is to be done in a complete and workmanlike manner for which he is to receive $300, to be added to the first payment of said Court House—

Said Kendall is also to raise the upper story eighteen inches higher than that his former contract was for, which he is to lay in his bill for said brick work which he shall receive the last payment for said house—also a conductor which is to be painted for which he is to receive his pay agreeably for said work.

Sociologists or whoever they are that are always trying to find out why there is a scarcity of domestic help in Kansas, may find in the following paragraph a clue to the answer:

Albert Moyer, clubman, and bon vivant, recently telephoned the book department of one of the big stores in this town to ask the price of Who's Who in America, a book which even the Eskimos know is made up of thumbnail autobiographies of thousands of contributors.

"Do you know who wrote it?" asked the saleswoman who answered the phone.

"A mass meeting," replied Moyer.

At the Newspaper Club the other day I met William N. Vaile, the Colorado congressman and sole literary light in the House of Representatives, whose latest book, "The Mystery of the Golconda" is enjoying a wide sale at this writing.

Mr. Vaile sold his first story to Sunset Magazine many years ago. This particular piece of fiction was rejected by 165 editors before it found a sympathetic reader on Sunset.

The only other solon now soling at Washington who has broken into the fiction end of the writing game in the last decade is Congressman Winter of Wyoming, whose two books, "Grandon of Sierra" and "Ben Warman" will be remembered by readers of "Westerns."

Driving a taxicab in Greater New York is an adventurous occupation. I talked with a driver recently who had, within a week: Found a pearl necklace worth $25,000 in his cab, and received $5 reward when he restored it to its owner.

Found a passenger dead from natural causes when the address given by the fare was reached.

Been held up by a negro bandit and robbed of $23, which represented his night's work.

Driven a man to New Rochelle, sixteen miles from Times Square, only to be paid off with counterfeit money.

Otherwise his was a peaceful week.

Homer Croy, author of "West of the Water Tower" and other novels, has been elected president of the Forest Hills, L. I. Waffle Eaters' Association. This high office was handed to him the other night after he had eaten eleven waffles hot from the iron and refused the twelfth when he heard the clock strike eleven, saying, "No thanks, I never eat late at night."

The Theatre

A full and successful life sometimes brings forth an autobiography and never is written word more entertaining. If a writer after experiencing success writes his experiences, why shouldn't a great film star after achieving success, film her life story?

What could be more fascinating than an autobiography of Mary Pickford's life, played by her and written by her and shown with the wonderful realism of our present day screen, asks Screenland.

Little Gladys Smith in a small Canadian city could still be convincingly played by Mary Pickford and the many tremendously dramatic incidents known only to Mary, which she must have met along the way would make an interesting picture and the spectator would be led to love her as never before as he watched the struggles of little Gladys Smith to become the most famous woman on earth—"America's Sweetheart."—Our Mary.

Jack Delaney, who beat Berenbach in what was a great ring battle, is going into the more genteel and less barbaric business of entertaining the masses via the stage. Al Lewis has signed the champion in vaudeville and soon we shall see a bashful, inarticulate gladiator trying to lick the hard-boiled gentlemen who attend the matinees.

Do you remember Lillian "Dimples" Walker? Back in the old Vitaphone days Lillian was second to none as a drawing card. She is returning to the screen soon. The stage has been claiming her. She is said to be as pretty and vivacious as ever.

A WOMAN ON A DIET

A woman vows that she will diet. Sees chocolate cake and longs to try it.

Renounces angel food and pie. But casts on them a hungry eye. Henceforth wherever she takes a seat

They serve her favorite things to eat. Where'er her social duties lead

On calories they try to feed her. The doctor says, stop this and that

If you'd get rid of surplus fat. An easy thing to say, 'tis true, But not an easy thing to do.

Hunger provides a sauce that's biting. And makes the plainest food inviting.

Foes, in the guise of friends, assert. A little bit of this won't hurt. They tempt her, sometimes as a jest

With dainties which she likes the best. Most any woman told to diet

Smiles and decides that she will try it. But tempted oft her courage fails,

Up climbs the needle on the scales. Few can the lure of food refuse, Only the stoutest hearts can lose.

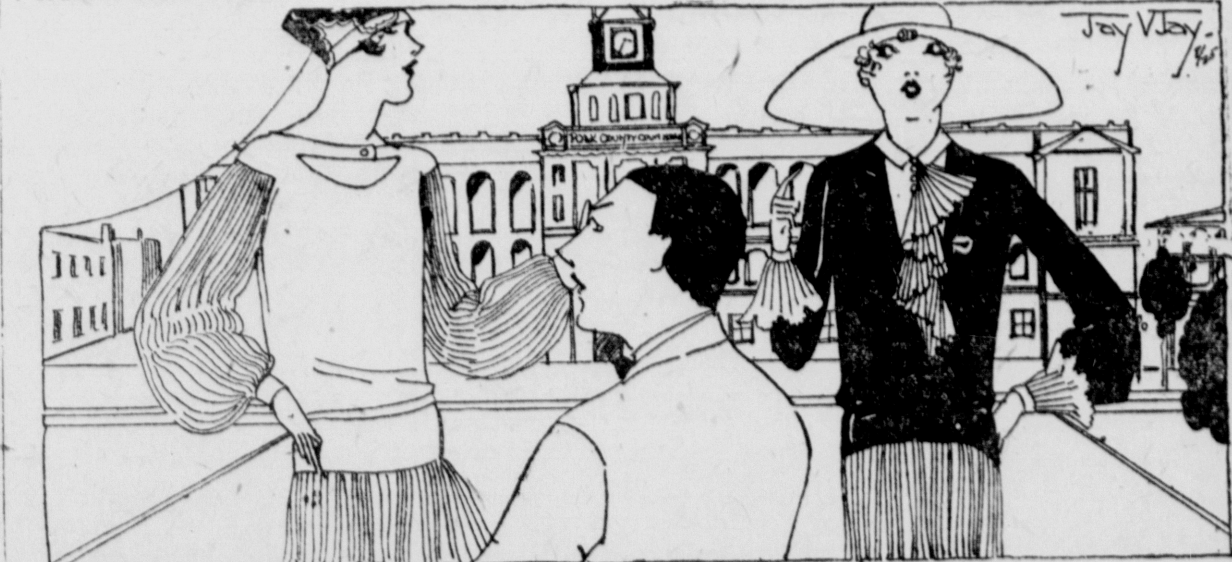

Modish Mitzi "IT'S NEVER TOO LATE TO SPEND," SAYS MITZI Jay V. Jay

Dad's taking no chances. He's to meet Mitzi later in the day. In order to be sure that the meeting will be staged according to schedule, Dad writes out the time, the place and how to get to it. Mitzi wears a taffeta frock with a gilet, the collar a crushed scarf effect.

So Mitzi departs to do some shopping. She is much interested in this evening dress trimmed with a huge velvet bow on the side back. The neck is V shaped as you see. It's a stunning gown with metal lace for the bodice. Metal lace, too, forms the flounce of the skirt.

You know how quickly time is spent shopping. Almost as quickly as money. Suddenly Mitzi thinks herself of Dad's instructions. It's a most inopportune time to remember this for she is trying on a gown with long bodice and ruffled skirt. Velvet bows trim the skirt.

First you see Dad and Polly waiting in vain for Mitzi at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument. The sun will be setting soon. The subject of where Mitzi is has been deeply discussed. Mitzi is exactly where they think she is—still shopping. "It's Never Too Late To Spend" is her motto. Oh, yes, she intends meeting Dad . . . later. Tomorrow—How The New Pleats Are Used!

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 14.—The injunction issued in Indianapolis against holding of the Dempsey-Tunney battle here September 23 will "have no effect whatever" in Pennsylvania, in the opinion of Edwin M. Abbott, well known lawyer and counsel for the Sesqui-Centennial exposition. "If proceedings are instituted here, I doubt if the Indiana injunction would influence the Pennsylvania court's decision, which of course, would rest on the legal merits of the case," he said today.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—The decision of an Indianapolis judge will stop the Dempsey-Tunney fight in Philadelphia, John Whiteside, attorney for E. C. Clements who drew up the bill presented in the Indiana court, said today.

"Under the conditions, the Pennsylvania court must issue an injunction stopping the fight," Whiteside declared. "That court must give full faith and credit to the act of a sister state."

Informing that Tex Rickard had declared through his representatives that the Indiana decision could have no effect in Pennsylvania, he added: "The only plea that could be entered would be that Indiana does not have jurisdiction. That plea however, was entered and overruled in Indiana."

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 14.—Surprise but no alarm was expressed by boxing officials here at the action of the Indiana courts in granting an injunction to the Chicago Coliseum Club to prevent the Dempsey-Tunney bout here September 23.

"Surely our plans will go right along to stage the bout just as if there had been no interference," declared Tex Rickard, promoter. "Never have I opposed the courts and I don't intend to begin now. But I figure I have a legal right to stage the bout."

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 14.—James A. Farrabaugh, attorney, was to leave here today for Philadelphia to begin a second round of legal action to prevent Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion from fighting Gene Tunney, a week from Thursday.

Farrabaugh last night won an injunction here restraining Dempsey from meeting Tunney for the championship until he first meets Harry Wills.

The injunction was issued by Superior Judge Clinton Givan, who expressed doubt whether it would be effective in Pennsylvania. Farrabaugh immediately decided to institute similar proceedings in Philadelphia, using the same evidence introduced here.

The attorney represents the Coliseum Club, of Chicago, which holds a contract with Dempsey for a fight with Wills.

Hornsby Spoke Too Soon Redlegs Now Declare

Last Friday in Boston, Rogers Hornsby, able manager, St. Louis Cardinals, confident, said: "We're in."

Twice he brought his Cardinals to New York to see the Yankees in action. He wanted to acquaint them with Yankee style of play in anticipation of the World Series.

To declare his team victorious with so much of a season left to play, was a managerial precedent and the victory of the Reds over Brooklyn Monday must have convinced Hornsby, able manager, that he counted his Plymouth Rocks before they were incubated.

THIRTY FIVE SEEK GRID POSITIONS ON ELEVEN AT ANTIOCH

Thirty-five football candidates are working out under Dr. C. E. Kennedy, new athletic coach at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, where the gridiron game is being resumed this year after an absence of several years.

Because the school has not had football for several years, abandoned because of the difficulties in maintaining a team due to the co-operative educational system, much of the new material is green and will require considerable experience.

Dr. Kennedy is assisted by J. L. Shook, former all-Ohio halfback from Kenton, "Slim" Dawson, former Antioch star and now assistant coach and Church Woolridge, Dave Snyder and Ralph Stump, stars of former teams. The scheduled opens October 2 when Antioch plays Urbana Junior College at Urbana. The coach is seeking an engagement for October 9, which will be the only two games the A division team will play.

CHARGE UNION HEAD WITH MALFEASANCE

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 14.—Charges of malfeasance in office against Fred Hemsley, president of the Union Miners of Hocking Valley were to be heard late today by the executive board of the United Mine Workers of America, district of Ohio.

The board consists of nine members. Hemsley is one of the members.

Acid Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia" Better than Soda

Hereafter, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875. adv.

FOOTBALL FANS WILL SEE MOST EVENLY MATCHED TEAMS, IS SAID

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 14.—Football fans this year will see keener competition among gridiron eleven of big colleges and the most evenly matched teams in the history of the game, according to Dr. John Wilce, coach of Ohio State University.

There are two reasons why fans may expect this equality, Wilce said.

1. Football has been reduced to a science and all the knowledge has been generally disseminated. All big colleges have about the same coaching staffs and these are acquainted with every method of attack and defense.

2. Shortage of good material is a problem that no longer exists. Interest in foot ball has increased tremendously and high schools are sending better candidates to college.

An increasing number of college football candidates are appearing each season—sufficient to assure a well-balanced team.

Victory, now Coach Wilce said, will be decided by the extra margin of drill of training or by an individual star like Red Grange.

"The tradition that one college always turns out a good team will be expected this season," Wilce said.

The "big ten" conference race, Wilce predicted, "will be the closest in history."

Dr. Wilce disagreed with Coach Howard Jones of the University of Southern California that the new penalty on forward passing will tend to increase punting.

"The effect of the rule will be to make passes more deadly," Wilce said. "There will be fewer incompleted passes. Players will be better trained in passing."

Wilce has obtained the services of Andy "Swede" Oberlander, All-American Dartmouth star and one of the greatest passers of the game to drill the Ohio team in tossing the ball. The aerial game long has been a favorite with Wilce.

Turning to Ohio State's prospects, Dr. Wilce said:

"We are fortunate to have more players eligible this year than we did last."

Wilce said this meant the prospects were better than last year, for a balanced team.

But he added, practically all schools of the "big ten" except possibly Indiana, which is a dark horse, ought to have well balanced teams.

HENDRICKS HAPPY BY HENRY L. FARRELL

New York, Sept. 14.—"We're still in the race, aren't we?" Jack Hendricks, manager of the Cincinnati Reds said. "If there is such a thing as second wind, we have it. We've been caught and passed several times and we have fallen behind but we are still up there."

Hendricks was asked why he had so much confidence in a club that the experts said had no business in the first division.

"I don't have to give a good reason," he answered. "The averages in the standing will show you why we are right in the race for the pennant. We have a good balanced club, not a tremendous hitting club but one that seems to hit when a run or several runs are necessary. We have a good pitching staff and above all—we are ALL WORKING TOGETHER."

KIWANIS-ROTARY GOLF MATCH PLANNED

Regular meetings of Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs, Tuesday, were postponed until Wednesday, when the clubs will hold a joint golf match at the Country Club.

The tournament will start at 2 o'clock. It is planned to have five or six foursomes.

All members of both clubs, whether golfers or not, are urged to be at the clubhouse for dinner, to be served at 6.

WEIGHED ONLY 98 POUNDS

Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cleveland, Ohio.—"After having my first baby, I lost weight, no matter what I did. Then a doctor told me I would be better if I had another baby, which I did. But I got worse, was always sickly and went down to 98 pounds. My neighbor told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it helped her very much, so I tried it. After taking four bottles, I weigh 116 pounds. It has just done wonders for me and I can do my housework now without one bit of trouble."—Mrs. M. RIESSEN, 10004 Nelson Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

If some good fairy should appear, and offer to grant your heart's desire, what would you choose? Wealth? It's a transient thing that brings its own cares. Happiness? It's an elusive thing which we keep by giving away. Health? That's the best gift. Health is riches that gold cannot buy and surely health is cause enough for happiness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be the good fairy who offers you better health.

Pity The Sharks!

THE ENGLISH CHANNEL has been so cluttered up with greased humanity trying to swim from coast to coast this summer that the sharks have had to go to school elsewhere.

It seems that all the people who were in De Russey's Lane the night of the Hall-Mills murder four years ago are holding this year's convention in the English Channel.

All of this is news, however. The complicated gyrations of the four-year-old investigation of the New Jersey murder still possesses that newspaper quality of interest no less than the thrilling experience of the channel swimmers. These events with other world news matters, have been accurately and swiftly reported in the news columns of this paper.

The Hall-Mills case bobbed up again because newspaper publicity made it of such sustained interest that the public demanded its solution. In this way the newspaper plays a public duty. The merchant who dodges publicity by refusing to advertise is burying his business in the obscurity of fleeting time.

"Not Possible To Classify"

By Mack Sauer

Here is a conversation of a bride and groom who walked down the highways and byways of Columbus Labor Day.

SHE

Come, let us cut this walking. My corns are raising thunder.

HE

Soft pedal on your talking. Your speech is one big blunder.

SHE

Oh, husband, take my finger and lead me through this jam. Ah, here's a place to linger, let's have some picnic ham.

HE

My name might sound like Lincoln, but I'm no president. You look so doggone spindly, why dear your nose is bent. I feel so melancholic, I think I'll eat a fish. This is our wedding frolic, just order what you wish.

SHE

The air is getting chilly, I'm glad I brought this wrapper.

HE

You're acting so darn silly, folks think you are a flapper.

SHE

Now, dearie, don't get funny, but kindly pass the hash. You lied about your money.

HE

Well, your father has some cash.

SHE

Please do not stare at her bobbed hair. Why, such ill-fitting clothes you wear. The inside of your mouth is bare. And in your soup there floats a hair.

HE

Oh, better far that you should swim back in the old canal with Jim. Than this one hair should swim today. And float around in Consomme.

SHE

Buy for me some peanuts, Brack. To eat with some cracker Jack.

HE AND SHE

Crunching peanuts, crunching corn. We are never once forlorn.

SHE

Darling, have you got the fare?

HE

Yes, I sold the dappled mare.

PAJAMA PARADE IS STAGED AT ANTIOCH

Annual frosh pajama parade was staged by Antioch freshmen and sophomores of Antioch College, Monday night. The line of pajama-clad students was led through the village by the sophomores, armed with paddles which are an important part of the ceremony. At the opera house, where the traditional "goat" was incarcerated, a public performance was given prior to the "closed session." David Root, president of the sophomores, introduced the freshmen president, Elliot Davis, who spoke on "Why I Came to Antioch," in closing he said, "I came to Antioch because I heard they were smart here—I find them not averse to passing on their smartness—in fact, I still smart."

Guyton Osborn, upper classman, furnished piano accompaniment for the Charleston danced by the tallest and shortest froshes.

ADMINISTRATRIX NAMED IN COURT

Mrs. Olive Simpson, was appointed administratrix of the estate of her husband, Archie Simpson, killed in a gun duel in the east end last Tuesday, by probate court. She gave $500 bond to cover the value of the estate which she listed as real property which will have to be sold to pay debts.

DISMISS CHARGE

Charges of stealing a mint vending machine containing $70 brought against Charles C. Nelson, N. Detroit St., by Abe Faris of Wilmington, were dismissed by Mayor E. P. West of Wilmington, when it was learned that the $70 had not been touched and that the machine was not taken out of Wilmington.

TEL. 91-R

There will be a meeting of the Charles Young Camp, Ladies Auxiliary, Tuesday evening at 8 p. m., at the assembly room of the Court House, by order of the president. Rev. H. O. Mason, teacher in East High School, is very ill at his home on Fair St.

Rev. R. E. Hutchinson, pastor of St. John's A. M. E. Church, with the choir and many of the membership, held the initiative service, Monday evening, preparatory to the dedication service of Zion Baptist Church. Mr. Hutchinson preached an interesting as well as an instructive discourse from Matthew, sixteenth chapter, a part of the eighteenth verse: "Upon this rock I will build my church." He said primarily the church is not a society of thinkers or workers or worshippers, but of believers in Christ. This will be church week at Zion, Tuesday evening. The Rev. A. W. Cromwell, pastor of the Main St. Christian Church, will speak and his choir will sing.

Mrs. R. E. Hutchinson, who has spent her summer vacation in the Southland with her relatives, left Ft. Worth, Texas, Monday for Memphis, Tenn., and will remain a few days the guest of Mrs. J. M. Greene, Rev. Hutchinson's sister on her return trip home. While away Mrs. Hutchinson attended the National Baptist Convention in Ft. Worth, the past week.

Mrs. Susan Mitchell, E. Main St., is very ill at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Ellis were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Pollard and family of Memphis.

Rev. R. P. Hudnall wishes to announce that there will be special services on Sunday evening, September 19th and a cordial invitation is extended to the young people and the public to be present at the regular church service hour, 7:30.

POLITICAL FIGHTS LIVEN NINE STATES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14—Battles for control of state political machines and "wet-dry" clashes enlivened interest in primary contests in nine states today.

Meanwhile the early election in Maine, always regarded by Republican leaders as a barometer of the national trend, was hailed by the G. O. P. when returns indicated Governor Ralph Brewster, Republican, had defeated his Democratic opponent, Ernest L. McLean.

Voters went to the polls in Michigan, Colorado, Vermont, Louisiana, Maryland, Washington, Massachusetts, New York and South Carolina. The latter state was holding a "run-off" primary.

JEWS CELEBRATE DAY OF ATONEMENT

Xenia Jews will celebrate the annual Day of Atonement or Yom Kippur, Saturday, Sept. 18. Local Jewish business houses will close on that day and members of the faith will take part in services at Dayton synagogues.

The day will be ushered in Friday evening with a solemn service in all the synagogues, and will be devoted to prayer and fasting. A memorial service will be held in honor of the departed during the day.

The Day of Atonement is an ancient institution, dating back to early Bible times. It is observed by all Jews, whether Reform or Orthodox.

YELLOW SPRINGS

The Public Schools opened Monday with a large enrollment. Antioch School will open Wednesday. The students who have registered for the coming year and will need homes, will be taken care of by Mrs. Edna Jones, who is in charge of the Neff House in the Glen.

The Gilded Rose

By May Christie

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY:

ROSILYN RIDGEWAY learns on her wedding day from idle gossip that she has been married for her money. Before her enormous fortune was left her, she had been an over-worked little drudge in her father's inn.

LANDIS RIDGEWAY, her husband is a brilliant, fascinating man, who was forced into the marriage by his mother. Rosilyn, loving her husband, knows he is still in love with LYDIA HARBROOK, a beautiful, cold society girl who is bent on marrying Landis.

STEVE VAN VORST, is a wealthy old roue, friendly with RUPERT BRISCOE, a dissipated man of the world, has seen Rosilyn but once, and yet is deeply interested in her. Lydia learns of this interest, and she and Briscoe concoct a plot whereby Rosilyn and Briscoe will see a great deal of each other, and Lydia will have a chance to exert her wiles upon Landis. The plan works, and Landis, finding himself often alone with Lydia fails under her spell once more.

Van Vorst, however, hungering for her love, decides to use MARIETTA FERNANDEZ, a dancer and sweetheart of Briscoe's in connection with a scheme. These two come to New York where Marietta begins to vamp Landis away from Lydia, leaving a clear field for the elderly schemer.

In the country at the Ridgeway place, Rosilyn, in a fever of jealousy and anxiety over the protracted disappearance of her husband seeks the solace of the countryside. After an exciting adventure she is rescued by Briscoe who tells a "fishy" story to account for his proximity to the scene. Soon after Landis effects a reconciliation with Rosilyn and becomes his old lovable self,—in the city meanwhile Marietta feels her power over Briscoe declining and commits suicide.

Lydia then urges Briscoe to compromise Rosilyn so as to give herself more power over Landis.

According to her plan Lydia informs Landis that his wife and Briscoe can be found alone at the inn.

Landis arrives at the inn, beats Briscoe in a fight, and is driving along the highway when Annie Rosilyn's old servant, greets him with the cry that "She is dead."

Arriving at the scene of the wreck Landis finds her, badly stunned, but uninjured. Back at the inn the next day he gently asks her if she knew that Briscoe had been there shortly before, waiting for her.

CHAPTER 72.
BRISCOE'S FATE

"Why? I didn't even tell him definitely I was coming here at all! He told me it would 'clear the cobwebs' from my brain, and he sort of urged me into coming back to my old home for a little while. But I never said I was coming and never in the world did I dream that he—" She broke off, her face flushing hotly under the sudden realization of Briscoe's treachery and wickedness. "Landis, you don't it at all these days because my boy came into quite a bit of money shortly after the wedding, and he's more or less independent of any money that Rosilyn has."

That was a facer for the gossip. Someone said:

"I heard in Paris a few weeks back that Lydia Harbrook has really married Steven Van Vorst. There's a money-mad girl, if you like! And I also heard that she'd gone off—shockingly in looks, and was quite scrawny! Landis was well rid of her!"

Mrs. Ridgeway Senior sipped her tea, secure in the delightful knowledge that her son was happily married, and not in the least caring what these gossip old women said.

"By the way, rather dreadful about Rupert Briscoe, wasn't it?" One of the nicer of the group remarked. "He got a two years' sentence in the courts for his rum-running business on the coast—getting wines and whiskey and all sort of liquors into the country—I hear he had a regular smuggler's cave!"

Mrs. Ridgeway Senior could have given an enlightening story of a one-time accident to her daughter-in-law, when Rosilyn had very nearly been caught in that cave herself. Indeed, she had slipped into the entrance, and Briscoe, who was there at the time on his own nefarious business—had brought her home.

"I must be going now. I'm dining tonight with my son and his wife. They're too absurdly happy. Quite like a pair of love-birds!" And she gave a laugh that had grown mellow, of late.

The dinner was delightful. Rosilyn had learnt the art of entertaining and her husband's eyes were fond and proud as they rested on his young wife. She had developed an elusive beauty and charm that held him.

"Love me, Rosilyn?" He tilted up her face when all the guests had gone, and they were alone together in the charming drawing room on East Eighty-Fifth St.

"Beyond everything!" Her lovely eyes were pools of truth and light. "Do you love me?"

"Oh, Rose of the World, I love you best!" he whispered, holding her close.

The End.

PRESS CONGRESS OF WORLD IS OPENING AT GENEVA TUESDAY

GENEVA, Sept. 14.—With an overwhelming preponderance of American and a fair sprinkling from other countries, the Third Press Congress of the World met here today under the leadership of Dean Walter Williams of the Columbia of Journalism for a five day session.

The American contingent to the congress numbered over two hundred. The delegates, upon their arrival by special train from Cherbourg were received by a local committee embracing the principal correspondents and newspaper men stationed at Geneva as well as officials of the League of Nations and especially from the latter's Information Section.

The sessions of the congress for the first three days will be held at Geneva, while the last two days will place at Lausanne. During the three days at Geneva all of the delegates will be given seats in the press galleries of the League of Nations for the sessions of the Seventh Assembly which is now in progress.

During the course of the congress reports will be received and read from various committees on news communications, freedom of the press, interchange of journalists, journalistic education, ethics and standards of practice and promotion of welfare of journalists.

Addresses on questions interesting journalists will also be delivered by a number of leading international editors, correspondents and journalists generally.

Following the final sessions at Lausanne on the eighteenth, the entire congress will leave on an extended tour of Switzerland, Fars, Brussels and London. The American contingent is due to sail for home from London on October 9.

APPLE GROWING IS GAINING IN WEST

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—The new west is out-doing the old east in commercial apple growing. The American apple region is shifting from the east to Washington, Oregon and Idaho, according to the Agriculture Department. Growers in the west specialize in Winesap, Jonathan, Rome, Spitzbergen, Delicious and Yellow Newtown varieties.

The east, however, continues to lead in producing Baldwin, Greening, Northern Spy, and Ben Davis varieties.

Western producers distribute their apples mainly in boxes. Last season they exported approximately 6,000,000 boxes of the fruit.

A Girl's Critical Age

READING between the lines, it takes a mother or sister to divine the needs of a girl just budding into womanhood: "My sister was not very strong and had been taking all sorts of pills and stuff for constipation. She was fourteen and of course embarrassed with pimples. So I bought her a large bottle of Syrup Pepsin. She has had no constipation since, her complexion is good and she is much stronger, healthier and happier. Now I always recommend Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin." (Name and address will be sent on request.)

Has Brought Up Entire Families

Syrup Pepsin is a mainstay from infancy to full growth. Sour, bilious stomach, headache, coated tongue, colds, feverish daily ills—all vanish. Children play right after a dose. Mothers stop their own terrible sick headache, indigestion, constipation. Makes old folks happy, contented. Truly a family medicine in its highest meaning. Get it today—any druggist, anywhere.

For a free trial bottle send name and address to Pepsin Syrup Company, Monticello, Illinois.

GAS BUGGIES or HEM AND AMY—Detour Number One

AMY'S OBJECTIONS TO THE INCONVENIENCE OF TRAVELING IN TWO SEPARATE CARS, WERE FURTHER AGGRAVATED WHEN THEIR NEW-FOUND FRIENDS, MR. AND MRS. GULF, DISPLAYED A STRANGE RELUCTANCE TO PASS THROUGH ANY CITIES.

WHAT'S THE BIG IDEA OF DRIVING AROUND THE TOWN? THE HIGHWAY GOES RIGHT THROUGH ON THE MAIN STREET. IS HE CUCKOO?

GOING THROUGH TRAFFIC BOTHERS MR. GULF. THE TRAFFIC LIGHTS CONFUSE HIM. BESIDES, HE SAYS WE'LL SAVE TIME BY NOT HAVING TO SLOW UP IN IT.

I SHOULD WORRY IF HE THINKS I'M A HICK DRIVER. I'VE GOT MORE REASONS'N ONE FOR DODGING TRAFFIC COPS.

I'M LOST ON THESE SIDE STREETS. WHICH WAY DID THEY GO? I WAS TRYING TO MISS THAT BROKEN BOTTLE, AND DIDN'T SEE HIM TURN.

THERE HE IS, IN THAT ALLEY. IT ENDS THERE. HE'S TURNING AROUND. SUCH A DINGY NEIGHBORHOOD TO GET US INTO. I DON'T FEEL SAFE HERE.

SORRY, FOLKS! WE'VE GOT TO GO BACK. THESE STREETS DON'T GO THROUGH. WE'LL HAVE TO STICK TO MAIN STREET, AFTER ALL.

WE'RE SAVING A LOT OF TIME LISTENING TO HIM. HE'LL HAVE US DIZZY RUNNING AROUND IN CIRCLES, LIKE A BUZZ SAW.
